Death at 98 Closes Dr. A. Rhu's 63-Year Career in Medicine

A lifetime of nearly a century, most of which was actively spent in the practice of surgery and medicine, ended today with the death of Dr. Auguste Rhu, 98. Death came at 2:30 a. m. at his home at 186 West Church street. Failing health, particularly during the last year, combined with a heart ailment, caused his death. He would have celebrated his ninety-ninth birthday anniversary on April 5.

DR. A. RHU pictured at time of his admission to American College of Surgeons.

Dean of medical men here and in the state, Dr. Rhu maintained his interest in his practice throughout the later years of his life and when his health permitted saw patients in his office maintained with his son Dr. Herman Rhu since 1929 at the West Church street address. Always in the vanguard of his profession his daily schedule of reading kept him abreast of the progress and accomplishments in medicine and surgery, and it afforded him unlimited pleasure to read of the marked success crowning their accomplishments. He was believed to be the oldest practicing physician in Ohio and among the oldest in the nation.

He was Marion's first member of the American College of Surgeons, becoming a fellow in 1913, and was one of the few holding that distinction. He was a member of the American Medical association and before beginning to practice here was elected professor of surgical pathology at the Ohio Medical college, now the medical college of Ohio State university. As a member of the Northwestern Medical association he was active in the advancement of the organization and at one time was secretary of the Ohio State Medical society. The oldest member of the Marion Academy of Medicine he served several times as president. Another of his positions was that of surgeon in the Medical Reserve Corps, and at one time served as president of the United States pension board.

For years Dr. Rhu was associated with the American Association of Railway Surgeons and was a member of the Mississippi Valley Medical society.

Western Reserve Graduate

Dr. Rhu received his medical degree from Western Reserve in February of 1885 and began his practice of medicine here more than 50 years ago. He had been a physician 63 years. His first offices were located where the Frank Bros store now stands. Since 1899 he practiced with his son, Dr. Herman S. Rhu, who like his father received his degree in medicine from Western Reserve. He received a degree from the Chicago Ophthalmic college in 1887 and did post graduate work at Chicago and New York. He specialized in eye, ear, nose and throat practice in addition to general practice. At one time Dr. Rhu operated a private hospital here.

He received his early education at Franklin High school in Day-

WILL ASK NEW YOUNG TRIAL

Defense Attorney Michel Indicates He Will File Motion, Probably Monday.

Attorney Paul D. Michel indicated today he would file a motion for a new trial for Edwin D. Young found guilty yesterday afternoon of first degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Zora Gerbes. The jury recommended mercy, making a life sentence mandatory.

Michel said the motion would probably be filed Monday. The law grants the defense ten days in which to file. He indicated that he would also move that the court reduce the offense alleging that County Prosecutor James E. Reed had failed to prove premeditation, an allegation necessary to be proved beyond a reasonable doubt in returning a verdict of guilty to first degree murder.

Similar Motion Denied

Judge Paul D. Smith denied similar motions made by Michel during the trial after the court had ruled Young's confession out of evidence.

The jury out only two hours and ten minutes returned its verdict in less time than it took a previous jury to find Ray A. Shappard guilty of first degree murder in the slaying of Roxie Ann Green. Shappard also was granted mercy by a jury out two hours and 25 minutes.

Young took the verdict without showing any change in the unruffled attitude he maintained during the trial. He said nothing as Calvin Oborn, clerk of courts, read the verdict. If he was surprised that he had been convicted of first degree murder, or relieved that he was shown mercy, it was not reflected in his face or in his manner.

He did not bat an eye as the courtroom waited in dramatic suspense for more than five min-

RUSS SPY LINE REPORTED INTO WASHINGTON

Congress Gets Story and Denial of Wartime Link With State Department.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Congress heard a claim and a denial today that Soviet spies opened a wartime pipeline to President Roosevelt's desk through a high state department official.

The setup was said to have been so efficient that a telegram President Roosevelt intended for China reached Moscow before it left Washington officially.

The claim was unfolded by the house appropriations committee in the printed transcript of hearings on the state department money bill for next year. Along with it was the department's reply discrediting the whole affair.

The story was told to the committee by one of its investigators who said he obtained his information from departmental files. None of the characters was identified by name.

Named as "No. 52"

The committee's records refer to the principal as "No. 52" and "formerly a high ranking official (who) presently occupied a high diplomatic post."

The investigator's report quoted this memorandum by a state department investigator:

"My informant stated that (X-6, a special emissary for Franklin D. Roosevelt) has divulged the following story and that, furthermore, information relating to this incident is in the possession of (U. S. Senator X-7).

"In April, 1945, (X-6) told my informant he was in London and was to depart shortly for Tehran. A few minutes before his plane left the airport, 50 miles from London, (X-8, a high official in OSS) arrived at the airport seeking him. (The OSS official) told (the president's representative) that a telegram, which had been prepared by President Roosevelt to send to Chungking, China, had been 'picked up at Moscow'; that an investigation had precluded the possibility that the leak of information could have occurred in Washington, because the information in the telegram reached Moscow before the actual telegram left Washington. (The OSS official) state that (a high official of the state department, No. 52) had been observed contacting a man in Washington and that this man, after leaving (the department official) had been followed to the Soviet embassy. (The OSS official) was clearly disturbed by this occurrence and warned (the emissary) against divulging information of a secret nature which might reach (this department official—No. 52.)"

State Department Comment

Here's what the state department had to say about the case:

"The reference described as X-8 (a high OSSofficial) has been interviewed subsequent to the submission of the report referred to by the committee representatives. It now appears that the informant who quoted the comments of X-6 to the departmental investigator was mistaken as to the substance of the information allegedly given by X-8 to X-6. X-8 has indicated, without reservation, that he did not tell X-6, nor did he know, anything about a telegram prepared in Washington which is alleged to have reached Moscow before its official release. X-8 stated further that he told X-6 nothing about No. 52 having been observed contacting a man who was later followed to the Soviet embassy. No investigation is now being conducted in this case."

SAYS DECISION TO CAPITULATE HARD FOR HIM

Communists Move Swiftly To Reorganize Czechs' Entire Everyday Life.

By The Associated Press

PRAGUE, Feb. 27 President Eduard Benes today swore in a new government loaded with Communists—a cabinet he is reported to have said "could have only evil results."

The president received Communist Premier Klement Gottwald and the 12 new members of the cabinet at the presidential palace and told them "the decision to accept you was difficult personally for me."

As the president spoke, Communists throughout the country were going ahead with swift determination to reorganize the country's entire industrial, educational and everyday life.

Premier Gottwald promised President Benes the new Communist-controlled government of Czechoslovakia will be "constitutional, democratic and parliamentary," the government radio reported.

Responds to Address

The Communist official was responding to an address by the non-party president in Benes' first meeting with the Communist-dominated cabinet he approved Wednesday at Gottwald's urging.

A secretary said the president has not resigned, as unconfirmed reports last night indicated he might.

Gottwald, the radio said, thanked the president "for your confidence" and told him:

"The attempt to split the government was a wilful act against the interests of the people. The people wanted to throw out the traitors and wanted an assurance of a people's democracy. You, Mr. President, helped dissolve the crisis."

The cabinet crisis arose when 12 anti-Communist ministers submitted their resignations last Friday to protest an order of the Communist interior ministry affecting the state security police.

Gottwald, the radio reported, told Benes, "I am sure that parliament will acknowledge this government, too."

He was quoted as saying he rejected the criticism "of the foreign countries which were responsible for Munich."

"We have demonstrated to the whole world the principles of democracy," the broadcast said the premier told the president.

The radio said President Benes told the cabinet he wished "that your way will be successful and happy."

"The decision to accept you was difficult personally for me," the official report quoted him as saying. "I came to the opinion that the crisis must be dissolved. I saw that the crisis would sharpen. Will you lead the state into the new paths of democracy?"

The meeting was scheduled to allow the little 64-year-old Benes to perform his constitutional function of accepting the cabinet.

The new cabinet is made up of Communists and Communist-approved ministers of other parties in the old National Front coalition. Gottwald forced it upon President Benes Wednesday to turn Czechoslovakia into a Communist country.

Termed "Disguised Dictatorship"

(The United States, Great Britain and France yesterday termed the new government a "disguised dictatorship." Their public declaration, as issued by the state department in Washington, protested that the Communists "artificially and deliberately instigated" a cabinet crisis to seize power.)

(The London Daily Graphic said today Benes is under house arrest in the palace. It did not say where it got its information.)

A close friend of Benes said last night the little president told Gottwald his new government "could have only evil results; and that he yielded only because he feared civil war. Just before giving in, he related, Benes told the premier, "You'r talking to me like Hitler."

Benes' meeting with the cabinet came two days before the twenty-eighth anniversary of the adoption of the first Czechoslovak constitution. He helped form the republic in World War I out of part of old Austria-Hungary and has been premier, foreign minister and president. He was wartime president of the London Czechoslovak government. In 1939 he

Teamsters' Strike Idles 2,000 Chevrolet Workers

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Feb. 27—Some 2,000 production workers at the General Motors Chevrolet plant in suburban Norwood were idled today on a strike of some 171 AFL teamsters against four automobile transport companies.

Don Zimmerman, general manager of the plant, said although his company was not involved in the teamsters' dispute it was necessary to halt production work at the conclusion of yesterday's shift because we have no space to park new cars and trucks."

The teamsters, who are employed in moving cars and trucks from the Chevrolet plant to points in Ohio, Kentuck and Indiana, and in bringing their vehicles to Cincinnati, struck yesterday in support of wage demands.

UAW FILES SUIT TO TEST POLITICAL BAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—The CIO United Auto Workers filed a suit in federal court here today attacking the Taft-Hartley act's ban on union political spending.

The suit contends the ban is unconstitutional and asks the court issue a injunction to prevent the justice department from prosecuting the UAW for any violation of the ban.

It is the second CIO court challenge to the provision which prohibits union expenditures in connection with federal elections.

The parent CIO invited criminal prosecution and then asked that the provision be declared unconstitutional.

CIO President Philip Murray was indicted Feb. 11.

Today's move on behalf of the UAW, President Walter Reuther, and Secretary Treasurer Emil Mazey is a civil suit.

CITY RECEIVES AIRPORT BIDS

Contract for Construction of Phase One To Be Awarded Within 30 Days.

The contract for construction of the first phase of the new municipal airport is expected to be awarded within 30 days, Safety-Service Director E. O. Uncapher announced today. The contract will specify that construction be completed by Oct. 31.

The board of control yesterday afternoon opened seven bids on the construction project which includes building of one main runway, two taxi strips, parking apron, clearing, draining, grading and fencing of the property.

Alternate bids were called for in connection with runway construction with bids being received on both concrete and bituminous surface strips.

Low Bidders

Low bidder on the specifications calling for concrete work was the Heffner Construction Co. of Celina, O., with an estimate of $586,477.65. Low on the bituminous specifications was the W. H. Ringwald & Sons Co., of Chillicothe, O., with $584,090.75.

Other construction firms submitting bids were H. W. Holt Co. of Columbus, V. H. Haldeman & Son, Columbus, A. J. Bates, Norwalk, George B. Herring & Son Mansfield, and A. W. Burns Construction Co. of Columbus.

Mr. Uncapher indicated the next step would be a conference with Civil Aeronautics Authority officials early next week to give consideration to the bids.

Grant From CAA

Marion has a grant offer from the CAA of $246,500 to match the city cost for the construction of Stage 1 of the new airport. It was indicated that additional funds would be sought from the CAA as the present grant offer falls short of half of the lowest bid opened yesterday by approximately $46,000.

Largest portion of the construction cost of Stage 1 is that of runway construction, Mr. Uncapher said. Cost of the runway, taxi strips and parking apron is estimated at approximately $280,000 with excavation and grading the next largest item at an estimated cost of about $190,000.

When construction called for under this contract has been completed, the city airport will be sufficiently complete for airline use. Marion is certified for air service by TWA on two routes already in operation by that airline. TWA has indicated they are ready to serve Marion when the airport is ready.

TRUMAN FUND REQUEST CUT

Committee Slashes Budget Figures; State Department Criticized.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—The house appropriations committee today cut $81,417,168 from the $587,837,431 President Truman asked for the state, justice and commerce departments and the federal courts.

This represents a total cut of 17 per cent. By agencies, however, the reductions range from 28 per cent for the commerce department to less than one per cent for the justice department.

The money is for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Here are the amounts the committee recommended in the bill it sent to the house for debate next week:

State: $197,217,163, a cut of $17,101,008, or eight per cent.

Justice: $116,330,700, a cut of only $501,300. The FBI received the full $43,000,000 it asked, and the anti-trust division was given $161,700 more than the $3,250,000 it sought. The committee called for more action against "anti-trust activities, particularly as they refer to food, clothing and shelter."

Commerce: $171,087,000, a cut of $65,756,500.

Federal judiciary: $18,785,100, a cut of $968,300, or five per cent.

The $502,429,263 total compares with $632,109,352 given the same agencies for the present year.

This division of the American Red Cross was organized in Marion during the first World War, and the present organization, which is really Red Cross in the schools, was established in 1934. Mrs. W. K. Hamor is the Junior Red Cross chairman in the Marion County chapter.

Serving with Mrs. Hamor are L. L. Dickey, D. T. Mills and L. R. Barnhart, advisory; Mrs. J. H. Harmon, school correspondence; Mrs. A. O. Linscott, production; Mrs. Marion Clark, nutrition; Mrs. Urton Anderson, home nursing; Mrs. W. K. Luse, first aid; Mrs. Clare Smith, community service; Mrs. W. C. Kimball, display; D. N. County Sanitarian Issues Water Pollution Warning

Hugh Maxwell, Marion county sanitarian, today issued a warning to rural dwellers to beware of pollution in private water supplies because of an over-abundance of surface water as a result of the fast melting of recent heavy snows. In a prepared statement Mr. Maxwell said:

"We are coming to the season of the year when we will have lots of rainfall and our cisterns and dug wells will fill up and the water table, from which our drilled wells get their water, will be replenished. This is a dangerous season as we have an over-abundant supply of water during this period and our lands, streams, rivers, creeks and ditches will be overflowing, carrying great contamination along with the water. This danger is greatest to the rural dweller, who is dependent on his own well-water supply for human consumption and for farm animals. However, this hazard can in most instances be forestalled by the proper location and development of the wells. This has long been recognized by municipal waterworks officials and engineers, but the individual installing a well for his own use generally is not properly informed or is negligent of many of the basic principles to be followed in securing a safe water supply from a well and has been inclined to accept any ground water supply as a safe supply.

"Many of the wells in the rural areas of Marion county are poorly located, poorly developed, and the water is contaminated most of the time. Persons using contaminated water often build up an immunity that will resist the action of the impurities in the water. Sickness due to contaminated water often affects children and infants, persons unaccustomed to such water, or persons in a weakened condition, whereas no sickness may be caused in healthy adults accustomed to using the same water supply.

"Contamination of a well-water supply may occur due to surface contamination by leakage into the top of the casing or through the cover of the well, by priming the pump with impure water, or by using a dug well for cold storage purposes. Subsurface contamination may occur due to a leaky casing, previous wells which permit water to enter from shallow depths, by shallow water following the outside of the casing and entering the water-bearing strata when no seal or an inadequate seal is provided between the casing and the wall of the drilled hole, or through crevices in rock strata which permit pollution from distant sources to enter a well.

"It is most important that the wells be located a safe distance from sources of contamination, such as leaching privies, sewers, leaching cesspools, barnyards, etc. In Maron county the minimum distance a well can be located from any source of contamination as regulated by the county health department is 30 feet for private homes and 100 feet for public buildings. The well should be located on higher ground than the privy and barnyard and septic tank so that the drainage from these will be away from the well. At farm dwellings field tile are too often used to carry sewage of wastes from dwellings. The open joints of tile permit sewage to percolate into the soil and sewage may reach the water supply. Special attention should be made to the surface development that the well casings and pipes through which suction lines extend are carried above a concrete platform over the well. The platform must be of reinforced concrete and must be water-tight and should slope outward from the pump or casing.

"Each rural dweller owes it to himself, his family and his community to make sure that he has safe water supply from a properly located and developed well. He may take advantage of the free service of the county health department and have samples of the water tested for purity and to ascertain whether or not his well is locted and developed properly."

DAILY LENTEN MEDITATION

CHRIST in You, THE HOPE of Glory

I Cor. 1:18: "For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God."

THERE are two classes of people mentioned in the text—those who are perishing and those who are saved. To the former the cross is a ridiculous myth, but to the latter it is the power of God.

The cross is the power of God. It is the dynamo of all life and all good. Where philosophies, art, science, and law failed to lift the pall hanging over the human heart the cross succeeded. It gives life and gives it abundantly. It produces light and banishes darkness. Only in the cross can all human needs be met.

It can further be said that the cross is the most powerful weapon ever forged for a permanent cure of fratricidal war; the only adequate defense against bacteriological and atomic warfare. We can have hope!

May the Lord our God help us to be zealous of such a potent weapon as the cross.

CHARGES BOOKIES GOT WIRE PRIORITY

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27 — A government report, long secret, charges horse race wires serving west coast bookies got wartime priority over the U. S. Army for Western Union services.

That disclosure was made before the California public utilities commission yesterday. The report also charged bookie wires got priority over war plants producing supplies for the military.

Edmund G. Brown, San Francisco district attorney, quickly asked both Western Union and Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. to halt their service to Pioneer News Service. Both said they would. Witnesses told the commission Pioneer has a race information monopoly in California. They said it was an agent for Continental News Service of Cleveland, O.

Brown's order was described by other officials as a "death blow to bookmaking as an organized racket in northern California."

Warren Olney III, attorney for Gov. Earl Warren's commission on organized crime, produced a report of a two-year investigation during the war by the federal communications commission.

It said:

1—Continental, supplying horse race information to thousands of bookies, tied up 16,000 miles of Western Union wires during the war years of 1943 and 1944.

2—All Western Union wires in the Bakersfield area were cut by an airplane wreck. Continental's service was restored in 30 minutes but the Fourth Army's main circuit, running all the way to Mazatlan, Mexico, was not repaired for two and one-half to three hours.

3—Western Union used quantities of copper wire for Continental after the government froze copper wire.

4—Telegraph repeaters, another short supply item, were tied up by the hundreds by Continental.

5—War plant applications for telegraph facilities were turned down in many towns where the racing service was using its leased wire service freely.

6—Western Union devoted thousands of man hours daily to Continental. At the same time, Western Union was asking deferments from the Army because of manpower shortage.

Says Railroads Are In Danger of Socialization

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27—American railroads are 'in grave danger of drifting into" government ownership, the president of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co. believes.

Robert J. Bowman said as much in written reply yesterday to criticisms by stockholder George S. Jackson of New York.

"Unless vigorous and affirmative measures are taken," he wrote, "the railroads are in grave danger of drifting into the very socialization which railroad men and other businessmen fear.

"This danger exists...because railroad policies have not been sufficiently affirmative to meet the needs of the times.

"The railroads...are the keystone in the arch of private enterprise. With socialized railroads, the remainder of our economy could not long remain free," Bowman said.

Stockholder Jackson criticized C & O management, and the position of Robert R. Young, Allegheny Corp. board chairman, in the C & O management and other details.

CAA Alaskan Chief Recent Marion Visitor

Gerald A. Whittaker, chief in communications operations of the civil aeronautics administration at Anchorage, Alaska, a former Wyandot county resident, was in Marion recently visiting relatives.

He attended a conference in Washington, D. C. last week, and stopped here to visit at the homes of his aunts and uncles, Misses Olive and Edith Whittaker and Charles Whittaker of 407 South Grand avenue, and Pearl P. Whittaker of 345 South Grand avenue. Formerly, he made his home with his Marion relatives when they resided in Wyandot county. He attended Harpster school, then entered government service more than 24 years ago. Leaving this area following his eighteenth birthday, he had returned only once before, about two years later, to visit.

When he left after his recent visit to return to Alaska, his trip was routed by way of Seattle, Wash., where his wife and sons reside. At the Anchorage base of the CAA, which is responsible for installing and operating the federal airways system, he supervises all communications in Alaska, operates the airways radio station and radio beam stations, communicates with aircraft in flights both civil and military, and provides aircraft with weather reports.

He reported while here that this winter has been quite mild at Anchorage, the lowest temperatures being but five degrees below zero.

Auto Dealer Awarded Judgment Against GM

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 27 — Fred Emich, a former automobile dealer, was awarded triple damages of $1,033,590 against the General Motors Corp by a federal court jury last night.

The award, one of the largest in federal court here, was voted after a jury deliberated nearly 34 hours following the four-month civil trial. The jury studied 1,100 indexed exhibits during deliberations. Emich had asked treble damages, under the law, of $1,-305,000.

Emich, 49, had sued under the Sherman anti-trust act, charging the corporation cancelled his agency franchises in suburban Oak Park and Rogers Park.

He charged General Motors revoked his franchises because he refused to use the General Motors Acceptance Corp., a financing subsidiary.

Income Over $5,000? Then Use Long Form Tax Return

...if 10 articles on who ... must file income

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

...TON, Feb. 27 — If ... income was $5,000 or ... must make your 1947 ... return on the 1040 ...

...main points to remember ...starting to fill it out: ... read the instruction ...ages with the long- ...don't have it, get ... tax-brackets on ...over incomes.

...one with $5,000 or ...re can take a stand- ...deduction for personal ...without itemizing ...

...deductible expenses ...re more than $500, you ...them. But you'll have ...

...if James Marlow ...Form W-2, the with- ...statement, or the 1040 ...form, automatically get a 10 ...per cent deduction for expenses without itemizing.)

Here's how to fill out the long-form:

Say you're married and have three children. Your 1947 income was $8,500 in salary and $500 in dividends from stock you owned. Total: $9,000.

Start at the top of the long-form on page 1, answering the questions as you go down the first half of the page, such as name, address, social security number, occupation.

Then move down to exemptions. This is important to you. Be careful! You get $500 knocked off your total income, for each exemption, before that income is taxed.

In your case you claim five exemptions: yourself, wife, since she had no income of her own, and your three children, a total of $2,500 in exemptions.

Then next, where it tells you, give your employer's name and address—if you had more than one list them all—and the amount of income paid you. In this case it's $8,500.

Below that, where it tells you, list your $500 income from dividends. Add the dividends and the salary to get a total income of $9,000.

Do Some Figuring

Now turn to page 3 of the long-form. Start work in the lower half where it says "13x computation."

Line 1—Write your total income, $9,000. Line 2—Write your standard $500 deduction. Subtract line 1 from line 2. Write the result—$8,500—on line 3.

Line 4—Write $2,500, your total exemptions which in your case were yourself, wife and children. Subtract that $2,500 from the $8,500 on line 3. Write the result, $6,000, on line 5.

That $6,000 is the only part of your income the government can tax. It's what is left after subtracting your deductions and exemptions from your total $9,000 income.

Now take up the instruction sheet mentioned earlier in this story. Look at the tax-table on the bottom of page 4. Your taxable $6,000 will be in the line where it says "over $4,000 but not over $6,000."

There you see the tax on the first $4,000 of your taxable $6,000 is $840, plus 26 per cent of the remaining $2,000, or $520. Add the $520 to the $840. That gives you a total of $1,360.

Now turn back to page 3 of the long-form. On line 6 write that total, $1,360. But that isn't the tax you have to pay.

Take 5 per cent of that $1,360—it's $68—and write the $68 on line 7. Now subtract line 7 ($68) from line 6 ($1,360) and write the result, $1,292, on line 8.

That $1,292 is your total tax, the tax you have to pay. There are a few other steps.

In 1947 you had a raise which made your total salary for the year $8,500. That raise upset the total tax you had figured, at the beginning of 1947, you'd owe for that year.

So in 1947 you paid the government $1,100 in taxes—$1,000 withheld from your salary and $100 paid in installments.

But now you find your full tax, because of that raise, is $1292, instead of the $1,100 you had thought you'd owe.

So now turn to page 1 of the long-form. On line 7, write your total tax, $1,292. Under that, on the line specified, write the $1,000 tax the boss withheld from you and the $100 estimated tax you paid.

Subtract the $1,100 tax paid from the full tax, $1,292. You write the result, $192, on line 9. That's the tax you still owe.

You must pay that $192 in full when you file your return with the internal revenue collector by March 15. You're finished.

Next: Exemptions.

TAX COMMISSIONER IS KIWANIS SPEAKER

C. Emory Glander Discusses Ohio Situation Before Club.

C. Emory Glander of Columbus, in charge of the department of taxation for the State of Ohio, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis club weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at Hotel Harding. His subject was "Taxation, Its Complications and Our Tax Structure."

Mr. Glander stated that the total tax in the United States last year amounted to $45 billion, which is $5 billion more than the total national income 15 years ago. He explained that Ohio has been fortunate in its financial structure, not having had to increase or add new taxes in the last year. Twenty-seven states added new taxes and 25 states increased taxes in the past year. He further explained that Ohio has cut down on exmse taxes which have been given back to the city and county sub-divisions.

Increase in government spending is comparable with the increase in daily living, and Mr. Glander believes factors due to this are the 82 per cent increase in costs about 1939, aids to local government and educations, the amount received by the local government being 70 per cent above that of 1939-40, and advancement in the amount of money allocated for the public health program. In spite of this, Mr. Glander said, Ohio is fortunate and will continue to have a surplus.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the board of directors and committee chairmen to be held Tuesday evening, March 2.

Introduced as new members were Theodore Napper, manager of the Western and Southern Life Insurance Co., and Wendell B. Ward, president of the Fulfillment Corporation of America.

Guests were John Smith of Columbus, Nelson Sharp of Cleveland, and John W. Watters, Harry Mounts, Carroll Davidson, William Lynch and John Powell, all of Marion.

Four Motorists Fined For Traffic Violations

Four motorists were arrested by highway patrolmen on traffic violation charges in the past 24 hours.

William Walsh, 57, of Cleveland, was arrested at 11:30 a. m. yesterday on route 42 south of Ashley in Delaware county and charged with excessive speed. He was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Ansel Lockhart of Delaware.

Dallas Hayes, 33, Bucyrus truck driver, was arrested at 5 p. m. yesterday on charges of failure to obey the stop sign at the intersection of routes 61 and 42 south of Mt. Gilead. He was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Roy Bennington of Mt. Gilead.

Albert Bognar, 41, of Mansfield, was arrested on a speeding charge on route 42 south of Mt. Gilead at 7:45 p. m. yesterday. He was fined $20 and costs by Mayor Bennington.

Ross Hickson, 60, of near Ashley, was arrested at 3:15 p. m. yesterday and charged with failure to obey a stop sign at the intersection of a county road and route 42 south of Cardington. He was fined $5 and costs by Mayor Richeson of Cardington.

LARGE AREA COVERED BY BLANKET OF FOG

Columbus Police Report Numerous Traffic Accidents.

A heavy fog blanketed Marion and most of north central Ohio early this morning. Although Columbus police reported a large number of traffic accidents because of the fog none were reported here as sunshine dissipated the clouds of vapor here shortly after dawn.

Columbus traffic moved by jerks as drivers tried to take advantage of holes in the fog and bumped each other, while truckers pulled to the curb and set out flares, an Associated Press dispatch reported.

The highway department reported the fog general through the north central and east central parts of the state, although state highway patrolmen here received no mention of fog conditions on the morning broadcast of driving conditions over the patrol radio network.

George Mindling, U. S. weatherman for Columbus, said the fog appeared to have settled from Ohio south of the Gulf coast with Dayton and Cincinnati remaining clear. Mindling blamed the fog on the overnight cool weather in the Columbus area, but said in the south the fog was really low clouds.

COLLISION IN WALDO

A truck driven by Robert Rice, 30, of near Prospect and a car driven by Harvey Frost, 30, Dunbar hotel, on Delaware avenue, collided on Marion street in Waldo at 9 a. m. today, the state highway patrol reported. The collision took place as Rice attempted a left turn. Neither driver was injured. Both vehicles were damaged.

KILLER SOUGHT

Lee Dunn, about 55, believed an employe of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. Police said Dunn was slugged and killed by a man who then leaped in his auto and drove away.

URGE MILITARY AID TO CHINA

Taft and Bridges Make Proposal in Response to Marshall Letters.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Two top Republicans proposed today congress lump military help for China with the $275,000,000 Secretary of State Marshall asked for Greece and Turkey.

Senators Taft (Ohio) and Bridges (NH) told reporters they will suggest that some funds be found to help Chiang Kai-shek's government fight Communists with bullets when the Greek-Turkish proposal comes before the senate.

Taft heads the senate's Republican policy committee. Bridges is chairman of its appropriations committee which helps decide how wide to open the government's purse.

Marshall Cites Needs

In letters to both houses, Marshall yesterday said it will be necessary to make an additional $275,000,000 available to keep the pipe-lines to Greece and Turkey full of military supplies after April 1.

The cabinet officer coupled with his appeal this morning: The leaders of Russian expansion are counting on American weariness in helping "far off Mediterranean countries" to let the Communists take over "by default."

Marshall's request for the new aid program was his first major action in the "cold war" with Russia since the Communists seized power in Czechoslovakia.

Actually, it had been decided to ask additional military help for Greece and Turkey before the Czech crisis developed.

But Marshall's letter to congress conveyed an estimate of the basic issues involved in the whole range of Russian-American conflict in Europe insofar as American determination to carry on is concerned. He wrote:

"The totalitarian groups whose aggressive aims have thus far been frustrated by the continued existence of a free Greece and a free Turkey are convinced that time will play into their hands; their leaders state with assurance that the United States will soon tire of giving aid to far off Mediterranean countries, and that eventually they will be able to take over by default.

Marshall made no mention of China in his letter. The administration has asked congress to vote $570,000,000 for that country, but none of the money would go for military supplies.

Taft, however, said he can see no reason why China should not get as much help as Greece and Turkey.

"The situation in China and Greece and Turkey is largely identical," he said. "In both places friendly governments are fighting off Communists."

Harding Band Concert Scores Hit Before Large Audience

By FRANCES HAAS

...enthusiastic audience at the Palace theater last night heard ...High school band, directed by Homer Huffman, super... instrumental music in the city schools, in a varied program ...ed selections by Bach and Beethoven, overtures, ... numbers, so-called "modern" American musical com... the always popular ...e mid-winter band ...sored annually by ... Orchestra Parents

...elections were per... precision and musi... ...ing which comes ... and earnest rehearsal ...ation of the audience ... and earnest rehears... ...and responded with ... the last part of the

Under the capable direction of the leader, the band gave a performance which greatly merited the generous applause and which provided an entertaining evening of music for the approximately 1,500 persons present.

Classical numbers made up the first portion of the program, interspersed with marches, while the latter part consisted of lighter numbers including the modern American selections, a medley of once popular songs and a novelty number.

Brass Sextette Plays

The brass sextette, composed of members of the band, which presented two selections between portions of the band program, also received generous ovations. They were returned to the stage for a curtain call by the appreciative audience.

The band, outstanding in their red and black uniforms, opened the program with a march, "136th U. S. Field Artillery." Fillmore during which exhibitions of baton twirling were given by the three drum majorettes and the two band mascots. The majorettes are Elaine Everly, Martha Douce and Dorothy Cooper, and the mascots are Jay Carroll and Mike Fella...

For the first selection the band played an overture, "Majesty" by Captain Charles O'Neill, a Canadian who has made several outstanding contributions to original band literature. The selection, as the name would imply, was accented with majestic rhythm.

The band then played two medleys of Bach chorales, "Rise My Soul To Watch and Pray" and "O Morning Star How Fair and Bright." These two chorales had been originally written for church ... and organ. The third movement of Symphony No 6 by Beethoven which he called his "Pastoral" Symphony," was the next selection. To this movement Beethoven gave the title "Joyful Gathering of Peasants."

Play Sousa March

A light classical composition, "Serenade Badine," Gabriel-Marie, a spirited waltz in true ...ienne spirit, "Girls of Baden," ...-Lange, and a march by ... Philip Sousa, "Fairest of the Fair," completed the first half of the program.

The brass sextette composed of Bob Wingett and Jim Wanner, cornet; Jim Lytle, horn, Fred Hart, trombone; Dick Lattimore, baritone, and Ronald Holloway, sousaphone, played, as their first selection, a medley of Stephen Foster compositions entitled "Memories of Foster," arranged by Homer. Included were "Old Black Joe," "Ring, Ring the Banjo," "Swanee River" and others. The last number was "Gordian," a modern symphonic poem, by Johnson.

Opening the second portion of the program was an overture, "Achilles," Floyd J. St. Clair, a contemporary American composer and arranger. Two "modern" music compositions were the next selections. The first, "Song of the Bayou" by Bloom, has been widely accepted as a classic in the field of spiritual composition. By means of the music, a story is told of Negro worshippers approaching their little church in a worshipful attitude when suddenly a heavy storm appears. The worshippers enter the church where they pray and sing, frightened by the rain and darkness. Then suddenly the storm is over—once again the sun appears—and the music reverts to its first theme, expressing calm, relief and thanksgiving. "Tropical" by Morton Gould, whose works have been performed by most of the leading symphony orchestras, was the second modern selection.

Medley of Popular Numbers

Next, the band played a medley of once popular songs, arranged by Briegel. Among the old favorites were "When You Wore a Tulip," "Three O'clock In the Morning," and "Ramona." The presentation of "Meadow Lands," (March of the Steppes) by Knipper, together with a Spanish waltz, "Marchena," by Fulton, were followed with a humorous novelty interpretation of a train with an engine and caboose entitled, "Little Red Caboose," Moffet.

For the close, the band, with the audience joining to sing, played the school song, "The Red and Black," which was written by Richard Myers in 1932, the alma mater, and The National Anthem.

As an encore, the band played "Repaz Band" by Lincoln.

Following the intermission, Mr. Huffman was presented a gift of a pen and pencil set from the seniors of the band orchestra, and later in the program, was made the presentation of a lighted baton from the drum majorettes, mascots, and Shellhorn's Music Store. The presentations were made by Ronald Holloway and Martha Douce. Mr. Huffman, in expressing his thanks said that he believed he had one of the grandest groups of young people in the city of Marion with which to work.

An hour long matinee concert for pupils of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades throughout the city was attended by approximately 1,000 boys and girls, along with teachers and other adults.

Proceeds from this concert and the orchestra concert, which is to be April 8, go into the music fund for use in purchasing equipment for the band and orchestra.

Officers this year of the Parents Association which each year sponsors the two concerts are Mrs. Closs Musgrave, president, James Lytle, first vice president, Mrs. Ralph Wright, second vice president, Mrs. R. B. Wingett, secretary, Harry Kaelber, treasurer. James Lytle, John Lacey and Leonard Young, ways and means committee, Mrs. Cecil Noble, chairman of social committee, Mrs. Clarence Sorenflo, chairman of membership committee, and John Lacey, Mrs. William Wanner, Leonard Bechtle and Mrs. Robert Evans, directors.

When the Trap Snaps Shut

WHETHER Kremlin-possed European Communists would try a Czechoslovak coup in a country occupied and policed by the United States, Great Britain or France now becomes a timely question.

Since the end of the war in Europe the United States has been groping for a rehabilitation policy. Our top leaders want to settle for the Marshall plan. They advise that time is of the essence, they now can point to Czechoslovakia as evidence.

What has happened in that most democratic of all eastern European countries is a pointed warning. Militant Communists capitalized on popular discontent. They didn't need a popular majority—just a toehold in certain key offices and control of the police power. Then, shouting about the failure of democratic governments—especially the United States—to solve knotty postwar problems, they snapped shut their political trap on Czech leaders.

The spark of resistance was missing. The slow pace of postwar rehabilitation had disillusioned the Czechs. Community indifference is made to order for coup d'etat. Words are no match for machineguns.

Czechoslovakia is a rich prize for the Kremlin. What will be the next one?

More Tax Complications

THE Ohio supreme court's decision in the case brought by Mosaic Tile Co. and Roseville Pottery Co. of Zanesville reclassifying a 340-foot kiln as personal property, instead of real estate, has added more tax complications to the problems of local taxing districts.

By ruling that the property in question was subject only to personal property rates at 50 per cent of its true value, the court seemingly opened the way for similar reclassification of just about everything from silos to blast furnaces. The potential effect is to remove millions of state's tax subdivisions at a time when they are already searching desperately for revenue to pay operating expenses.

The city of Youngstown, for example, faces bankruptcy in the fall of this year—an eventuality that would be set ahead many months if any considerable number of its manufacturers decreased their tax liability by successful appeals to reclassify as personal property facilities now being taxed at real estate rates.

The general assembly will have to clarify the picture. A special session is being mentioned as a possibility. Included in the details of the picture that must be clarified is a provision of Ohio law adopted in 1943 stating that taxable property when reclassified shall not be listed or assessed until the year "succeeding that for which such determination was made, or the year succeeding that in which such removal occurred." Does this mean that a year's taxes would be lost in addition to the loss of half the real property tax rate?

He Perfected Shorthand

LIKE Christopher Sholes, who invented the typewriter, John R. Gregg, who died Monday at 80, did much to revolutionize paper-work routine. In 1888 he published the Gregg shorthand system which made it possible for a pencil guided by deft fingers and a nimble mind to keep up with the swiftest talker.

Mr. Gregg was an expert on shorthand from boyhood when he became interested after seeing a sermon taken down as it was delivered. As a young man he evolved a system which was less complicated than its predecessors and easier to write because it utilized the slants and movements of longhand. In later years he operated his own publishing company and allied enterprises.

His invention is less spectacular than some which have speeded modern life's tempo. Indeed, it isn't an invention at all in the strictest sense of the word, for it doesn't involve cams, shafts and pushbuttons. It only enables human beings to keep abreast of the complexities that cams, shafts and pushbuttons have added to their affairs.

A System That Works

TO HEAR some do-gooders tell it, this country is in a bad way. But it doesn't look that way to the London Sphere, which observes that America, with only 6 per cent of the world's area and 7 per cent of its population, consumes 48 per cent of the world's coffee, 32 per cent of its wool, 56 per cent of its rubber and 72 per cent of its silk.

Americans produce 60 per cent of the world's wheat, 50 per cent of its copper and 60 per cent of its crude petroleum. We have 60 per cent of its crude petroleum. We have 60 per cent of the world's telephones, 33 per cent of the railroads and 80 per cent of the motorcars. The purchasing power of 140,000,000 Americans is greater than that of 500,000,000 Europeans.

An incentive system which can inspire production to that degree can't be sneered off by those who would substitute political management for individual initiative and supervision.

The Proverbs of Solomon are almost a literal translation of a famous Egyptian work, "The Teachings of Amenope."

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Trying To Look Two Ways at Once.

THERE are always men, great and small, who are certain that they can do the impossible. You take Roan them. The man who can run the banks of the country differently and better; the man who can operate the United States Steel Corporation better than Ben Fairless; the man who never knew John Barrymore as Hamlet or George Bernard Shaw; the man who knows precisely how to manage the newspaper you are now reading better than its publisher. Among the [illegible] man, such a man must have his head into a stone wall of historical fact.

SOKOLSKY

Such a man is Eduard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia, who conceived the brilliant idea of courting both east and west simultaneously. This Janus-faced policy was supposed to be the smartest ever conceived and the Czechs have been inordinately proud of their achievement. It was designed to make it possible for Czechoslovakia to be a western nation while at the same time it was an eastern nation. Czechoslovakia was to have a free economy while at the same time it permitted their own Communists to select the premier, to accelerate a Communist propaganda and to become what is called a majority party, changing the freedom of western European economies into the slavery of Marxism.

Unmistakable Tip-off

The first sign that the Czechs had that they were not in control of their own affairs was when Jan Masaryk at the San Francisco conference served as a diplomatic valet to Molotov. That was the tip-off. Masaryk is not a Communist but he could work with them if it suited him. He is an opportunist.

The second sign was when Czechoslovakia wanted to join the nations of western Europe that were to meet to consider the Marshall plan. Russia told Czechoslovakia to stay away, and Czechoslovakia stayed away. That was the second tip-off, and it was an unmistakable one. Whether one is for or against the Marshall plan, it has to be admitted that the nations of western Europe that met at Paris to set up the program represented, together with Spain, all that is left of what might be called western civilization in Europe. Czechoslovakia, which rightly belonged at the conference, was not present. Czechoslovakia there and then became a part of the Russian world.

Benes at that point, could have appealed to the United Nations to judge between him and Stalin, between the right of a sovereign nation to form its own foreign policy, to determine its own economic policy, without interference from outside. Stalin did interfere in the internal affairs of Czechoslovakia and Benes took it. He probably thought he had another trick up his sleeve. Maybe he thought that Masaryk had another trick up his sleeve. Maybe he thought that he could outwit a steamroller that is not to be resisted by speeches.

Expected Has Happened

So, now it has come at last. Russia has moved on Czechoslovakia as it moved on Hungary, as it moved on every Balkan country except Greece. This is war by propaganda—war by treachery and the utilization of Quislings. What Hitler planned at Munich; what traitors did in every country into which the German armies marched was petty larceny compared with the horrible miseries that Stalin is bringing to country after country. And there is no stopping him at any particular point as long as the western powers lack the will or daring to stand up to him even on the basis of their opposition to Hitler. Czechoslovakia is only another step in the march to Europe's death.

There are men who serve Russia in every country: Togliatti in Italy; Thorez and Duclos in France, Gottwald in Czechoslovakia.

Who is the man in the United States who, in pursuit of personal power and personal advantage, is playing this silly game of believing, like Benes, that he can evade becoming the prisoner of those who are willing to feed his vanity, supply him with a claque to applaud his platitudes, to cheer his every gesture, while he, Janus-faced, looks both east and west, playing both ends against the middle?

It would seem to me that Henry Wallace is the Eduard Benes of America—albeit a less graceful one.

A New Use for Left-Over Coffee

Scientists have devised a means of making shampoo from coffee.

That's a secret boarding house cooks have known for years.

Still, it's undeniably a novel approach: If you can't get rid of your dandruff, at least you can keep it awake nights.

How'll they advertise this new Java shampoo...."Good to the Last Lather?"

It's a shame they couldn't have done it with tea. It would have worked so well with a lemon-juice rinse.

It's fine, of course, that we can now make shampoo out of coffee. But, with the latter going up and soap coming down, it's a shame they can't reverse the process.

How a Little Tax Grew

By Harry A. McCrea

WITH the federal tax bill much in the news these days and with many a citizen burning the midnight oil over his Form 1040, or a variant thereof, this is a good time to look into the history of income taxes.

The first taxes were in the form of tithes, or "firstfruits," consisting of a tenth of a man's annual crops or handiwork, which went to the church. Tithes were almost universal throughout the ancient world. The first formal tithing law appeared in the capitularies of Charlemagne about 900 under which tithes were collected for the bishop, the clergy and the poor. Later despite injunctions of church councils, tithes became transferable and salable like ordinary property and payable out of sources not originally tithable.

The first income tax in the approximate form by which we know it today was levied by the Pitt government in 1799 for the prosecution of the English war with the French. When temporary peace came in 1802 the law was repealed, with mass celebrations throughout Britain. So hated was the tax that Parliament authorized the burning of tax records of the king's remembrancer. The levy was restored briefly some years later when the Napoleonic threat grew anew. The British troops which finally defeated Napoleon at Waterloo were outfitted with funds raised by an income tax.

England re-established the tax in 1816 after the repeal of the corn laws had depleted national finances. It has had the tax ever since, its percentage being gradually raised during the years, despite the opposition of Gladstone, Disraeli and others.

Gladstone had this to say of it: "Of all the taxes on the statute books, the income tax is one through which it is possible that socialism or communism or anything like them can, in the nature of things, find an entrance into our system. It cannot be done by indirect taxation."

Income Tax Movement

Agitation for an income tax in the United States began to grow early in this century and the 16th amendment to the Constitution passed Congress in 1909. Ratification was completed four years later. The amendment is the shortest of the 21, reading: "The Congress shall have the power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever sources derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

In the forefront of those urging adoption of the amendment was a young Tennessee congressman named Cordell Hull. He had this to say: "Every good citizen should be willing to devote a brief time during some day of the year when necessary to the making up of a list of his income for taxes . . . not the Scriptural tithe but a small percentage of his net profits."

Only five years later, Representative Hull was reporting to the House a revenue bill which fixed the normal income tax rate at 12 per cent and a surtax maximum of 65 per cent. As for the "brief time during some day" to be used in calculating the tax—that, too, has increased, as any businessman can attest.

Among those opposing the tax was Elihu Root who predicted that the rates would be raised until they would become confiscatory. This same idea was a cardinal point in the writings of Marx and Engels. They envisioned the graduated income tax being steadily raised to claim capital which might be going into private enterprise. The source of new capital must be destroyed, they held, and the income tax was the entering wedge. Marx held that idea to be so important that it is the second point of his Communist Manifesto.

Opposition Argument

One who joined with Root in opposing the income tax in 1909 was Representative Sereno Elisha Payne, ways and means committee chairman, who said: "As to the general policy of the income tax, I am utterly opposed to it. I believe with Gladstone that it tends to make a nation of liars; I believe it is the most easily concealed of any tax that can be laid, the most difficult of enforcement, and the hardest to collect."

Our ideas of the tax may have altered with the years because of the size and complexity to which government inevitably has grown. But the rate at which income taxes have risen must delight the shade of Karl Marx. In 1939 the government raised $1,000,000,000 by this levy. Last year the figure was $17,600,000,000.

Before World War I, the British were saving from 10 to 15 per cent of their income. As income taxes rose, savings declined until by 1938 the figure stood at 3.84. By then it was too late to save England from socialism.

In 1944, the American people saved 21.4 per cent of their income. In 1945 the figure was 19.3 per cent, in 1946 9.3 per cent and last year 6.4 per cent. The supply of fresh capital is drying up.

Speaking in congress the other day, Representative Gearhart of California said: "According to economists we are going to need 105 billions to modernize American industry, which is now largely in obsolescence, in the next five years. That means we must raise 21 billions every year for five years. Private industry can provide two-thirds of that, or 14 billions, by internal savings, but the remaining portion must be supplied from the savings of the people, and the people cannot provide those savings under the confiscatory income tax levies now in vogue."

That is one of the main points of the tax reduction advocates—that plus the belief that the way to make a start toward whittling government expenditures is to take a firmer grasp on the purse strings.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Feb. 27, 1938.

A new industrial council functioning under the banner of the Committee for Industrial Organization was created during the closing session of the Ohio CIO's first state convention, at Columbus.

A missionary play, "God's Seven," was presented at a tea given by the Woman's Missionary society of the First Reformed church, in the church parlors. The play was directed by Miss Dora Jacobs and given by 17 members of the society.

Mr. and Mrs. George Webb of Pearl street entertained with a family dinner in honor of the 48th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Webb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Denman of Waldo.

Dr. Dessie Goodwin of West Center street had as her guest Dr. Henrietta Keller of Oil City, Pa.

Conditions in Russia, present and past, were described by Rev. John Johnson, a native of Russia, at a meeting held in Fite Memorial Baptist church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Feb. 27, 1928.

The naval dirigible Los Angeles, on a "long practice cruise," was making steady progress on a non-stop flight to Panama.

Mrs. P. G. Shoots was enrolled as a member at a meeting of the Ben Hur Literary club at the home of Mrs. F. J. Schultz on South Main street.

Continuing their efforts to bring about beautification of the city lot at the corner of Prospect and Church streets, members of the Marion Real Estate Board urged city council to approve the plan of erecting bill boards on the lot. Erection of the boards along the east side of the lot and in front of the hitching racks would shut from view the unsightly rear ends of buildings on South Main street, they pointed out.

Mrs. J. W. Jolley of South Seffner avenue was hostess for a meeting of the Advance club.

Economic Cross Currents

By Raymond Moley

IT IS quite apparent that the two political parties in Washington will find a common ground in opposition to the increase in steel prices. For this amazing action of the steel industry vitally affects the plans of both parties. It enables a Democratic stalwart like Senator O'Mahoney to point out that it is "absurd" to talk about tax reduction while "concentrated" industry can make such a levy. And it endangers the moderate price decline on which Republicans can justify their refusal to reenact controls.

MOLEY

Price declines were already making large tax reductions somewhat dangerous. Republican plans have been based upon a prospective surplus of close to $10,000,000,000. This was calculated on the basis of a real surplus of $8,000,000,000, plus $2,000,000,000 slashed from expenditures. Such a surplus would, according to Republican leaders, provide something like $5,000,000,000 for tax reduction. Even in the house, leaders admitted privately that the Knutson slash would be too much. It was passed by the house as a gesture, with the assurance that the senate would cut it down. This was a plain peace of insincerity—routine politics.

This thing the house failed to take into account, although intelligent members must have been aware of it, was the relationship between the total national income and the size of the surplus. It was the amazing rise of the national income over the past 18 months which, again and again, threw the President's estimates into the discard. If the national income should start to decline even moderately, this process would go into reverse. Republican estimates of a surplus would prove repeatedly to be too high, and the end might well be red ink and deficit spending. This could not fail to make an extremely bad impression at home and abroad.

Republicans who favor a large tax cut hope the money saved by the taxpayer will add to purchasing power which, with lower prices for food, will go into manufactured goods. This would increase production and maintain high employment. Perhaps such a cycle would be the result of a tax cut, but its operation would be spread over a long period and its stimulating effect would be relatively small.

But higher steel prices throw clouds over everyone's calculations. It is not the alleged $68,000,000 increase in the steel bill that counts. A healthy economy could absorb that. It is the psychological effect of such a well-advertised drive for profits upon all users of steel and upon all labor unions. The news of the rise came just at the moment when many manufacturers who use steel were hesitating about pricing. Steel users may now be compelled to accelerate a pyramiding of prices, because plausible and even sound reasons can be given for increases. The steel increase will certainly encourage union leaders to move more boldly in making demands and in threatening strikes.

This situation, moreover, gives useful ammunition to people, such as Wallace who have their doubts about a free economy. Freedom, they will say, has a tendency to set off dangerous fireworks.

Wrong Is Right

The bureau of printing and engraving admitted it is purposely going to misspell Mississippi on its forthcoming stamp commemorating the state's anniversary.

But it doesn't want the nation's school children to take offense. There's a reason for the mistake.

The bureau spotted the misspelling in setting up sample designs of the state's official seal. It asked state authorities to take another look at the official seal, and, sure enough, there it was: Mississippi. Only three "s's."

So that's how it will be on the new stamp.

Failure indicates that energy has been poured into the wrong channel. —D. Brande

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Joe Louis and John Bull

Joe Louis, heavyweight champion of wrestling in England. Strictly lease lend.

And that is one loan we will get back.

Joe may make a pretty good ambassador but the British want to know at the moment is to get off the floor after unexpected knockdowns.

If Louis can't, tell 'em nobody can.

Of course Joe has something on John Bull. He didn't have to depend on Attlee, Bevin, Cripps to tell him now to get up.

* * *

The Brown Bomber and John Bull have something in common. Both were long time champions who ultimately got into deep trouble and found too many people telling them what to do next.

* * *

The advantage at the moment is with Bull. He has a fairly clear idea of what the next step is. But Attlee has John Bull so befuddled he can't even remember when the lights went out.

Joe will be happy in England; he doesn't care much for movies anyhow.

And he is prepared. England is frozen in everything, but Joe has taken along plenty of anti-freeze solution. The British tour should do him good. If he will study the wallop of Churchill, the footwork of Attlee and the ability of Bevin to roll with a punch, it will be no bed of velvet.

* * *

We hope that, being in the British Isles, he will be spared a knowledge of some of the things said about him back home. For the first time in a career noted for sportsmanship in behavior and utterance, Joe (probably badly advised) has made his friends wince by his belittling of Joe Walcott, his co-operation in the drive to keep him from getting a fair cut in the gate and his farewell crack that unless Walcott accepted his terms he would drop him.

* * *

This is not the old attitude of Louis and it could be that he has become as slow again as his fight mob advisers as he was against Walcott.

* * *

The cracks about Walcott running away from the baloney balonus. Walcott certainly was elusive in spots, but if what he did comes under the classification of running, then Gene Tunney and Jim Corbett were super-sprinters.

Walcott is not going abroad. He still is in New Jersey not only lovelier than all England but larger. His one worry Louis will see much of Churchill. Winston still knows more about winning after a bad start than any man in the world.

"There is no more joy in life for the common man of the fairways. They had some excuse being a little larcenous now and then. They couldn't bust 100 otherwise. The knowledge that a lot of our pro golfers, who didn't have to do it to score well were going in for hocus pocus was comforting."

"We were afraid of it," we suggested.

"Of what?" asked Pillsbury Grezeball.

"That some day something would happen to make the ancient Scottish game respected. If played properly by the boys who shoot in the 65s all over the land now," we said.

A stagehands' union is now charged with featherbedding in staging an Alice in Wonderland show for the kiddies. We hear that it insisted that when Father William stood on his head there should be two standins rightside up.

Pass the Pancakes

By TRUMAN TWILL

The governors of Ohio and Vermont, as part of the publicity buildup for the annual maple sirup spree in Geauga county next April, do some blindfold tasting of the sirups produced in the two states. This is supposed to settle once and for all the argument about whether Vermont or Ohio sirup is better. A third judge, a more magazine editor, will hold the balance of power in the event of a deadlock.

All this is nonsense—harmless, but still nonsense. Why use blindfolds? In fact, why talk about the matter at all? Ohio and Vermont make the best maple sirup. There isn't any other kind. Even if it's made in Pennsylvania, New York, New Hampshire, Michigan, or the province of Ontario, maple sirup's still the best.

It's the distillation of the clean snow that lies in endless expanses of billowing white over the hallowed ground of the sugar groves, the life fluid of proud trees that stand in serene majesty over the memory of men who once passed that way.

It's the ambrosia of tender leaves that danced and sparkled in the sunlight, then were blown away on the heady autumn breeze to leave their span of brightness in valleys and corners.

It's the sweetness of the showers and rainbursts of spring flowers that lent it flavor, of bluebirds flying into the sun and the soft moonlight stealing softly through the branches of the maples.

It has borrowed from the generous fragrance of the wood that fired the condensers; from the crisp air of spring days when the sap runs through the spiles into the collecting buckets.

It has blended itself with the essence of countrysides blessed by endowments of color and integrity; it has been compounded with care by hands made reverent and loving by communion with finest forces of Nature.

The governors of Ohio and Vermont know these things if they are fit to taste maple sirup at all—and so does the magazine editor who holds the balance of power. Only one thing is possible under the circumstances:

"I judge this sirup to be food for the gods, regardless of where it came from. Vermonters and Ohioans are luckier than they can comprehend in one short lifetime. Please pass the cakes."

Hundreds of men have fought and failed to quell this fire.

"It was burning when I came here," said one veteran mining engineer, "and I won't live to see it out. It'll burn on forever and a day. It'll never burn out."

To him and other residents here this deep invisible fire has an awesome and eternal quality, a symbol of man's frustration before a power he cannot curb.

Mine fires are all but impossible to put out. But it is easy to start them. In the Anthracite Institute laboratory here a portion of the $1,000,000 the industry spends each year on research is being devoted to see just how mine fires do burn.

"IF WE LEARN that we may find out whether they can be controlled to get the results we want," said Dr. R. C. Johnson, research director who has built a model mine in the laboratory for test purposes.

Johnson believes that when the nation's supply of natural gas is exhausted burning coal mines will become the cheapest way to produce synthetic gas—from which can be made gasoline, diesel oil, alcohol, waxes, medicines and other products. "Mining is the big expense at present," he said. "If the coal can be gassified without mining it, we can obtain the synthetic gas at low cost."

There is still another advantage to burning the coal in the mines, but Johnson didn't mention it.

Nobody has to haul out the ashes.

MRS. GEORGE A. HOWSER was an associate hostess when the Junior Auxiliary of the Woman's Board of the Marion City Hospital met last evening at the home of Mrs. David J. Isaly of 140 Clover avenue. During the business session it was reported the auxiliary had purchased a Colson inhalator which is now in use in the pediatric ward at the hospital and also that the therapy work is being continued at the institution. The latter includes providing a magazine cart for the convenience of the patients. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held March 19 in the reading room at the Y.M.C.A. and also to sponsor a benefit ball game again this season. A part of the time was spent hemming towels for use at the hospital. The next meeting will be March 25 with Mrs James C Woods Jr. of 287 Lafayette street.

ROBERT WILLIAMS was a guest speaker at a meeting of the Marion Art club last evening at the Federation Home. His topic was "Art and Symbolism in Religion." The next meeting will be March 18 at the Federation Home.

Mrs. Ollie Winfield of 285 Summit street was hostess for a meeting of the Wimodausis club Wednesday at her home. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Florence Burke, Mrs. Carra Foust, Mrs. Lucille Drake and Mrs. Lois Williams. Mrs. Daisy Hallflick, newly-elected president, was in charge of the meeting. Truman Won't Change Appointment Policy

By The Associated Press

KEY WEST, Fla., Feb. 27—Top flight advisors to President Truman said today the south has no reason to fear any drastic change in the administration's policy on appointments

Some southern officials were represented in news dispatches as feeling the President might award an increasing measure of patronage to Negroes, in the wake of his recently announced civil rights program.

In news stories read at Mr Truman's vacation quarters on this naval submarine base at the southernmost tip of the United States, these southern officials were described as fearful any change in the chief executive's appointive policy might find Negroes named even for major posts.

One highly placed White House source who asked that his name be held in confidence said the President "will continue to consider each appointment individually."

Stalin Personality Proves Impressive To Secretary Hull

By CORDELL HULL

INSTALLMENT XXIX

During a recess in the conference session that followed my meeting with Stalin, I buttonholed Molotov and reemphasized the proposal I had presented to Stalin for a meeting of the three of state at Basra. Molotov asked me what were the principles of international cooperation I had said I thought should be the basis for peace. I repeated to him the numerous proposals I had more or less stated to him since arriving in Moscow.

Molotov said that an agreement should be reached on these matters. After some thought, he finally remarked:

"Your visit was almost your entire undoing, was it not, Mr. Secretary?"

I replied, "It was. And Stalin was almost your counter-undoing, was it not, Mr. Secretary?"

Molotov smiled and admitted it was.

"Before the war," I said, "you practiced isolationism if you could gobble up your neighbors. But that will be your undoing." When I was young I knew a man in Tennessee. He used to get his own way by being a bully and bluffing other people. But he ended up by not having a friend in the world."

The President informed me on Oct. 28 he expected to "turn up" in North Africa shortly and would have to leave Washington by Nov. 1. This was for the Roosevelt-Churchill-Chiang Kai-shek meeting at Cairo). He said he hoped I could maintain my original schedule of getting back by Nov. 7 because it was imperative that he and I should talk before he left.

He suggested that, if Stalin found it impossible to meet him, the marshal should fly as far as Basra even for one day. This was of supreme importance. The rest of the time, the President hoped, Stalin would let Molotov sit in with Churchill and him.

I replied to the President on the following day that I had been kept in Moscow longer than I expected, and would be glad to meet him on the Eastern side of the Atlantic. I said there were increasing indications that Stalin would not go beyond Tehran, and I doubted seriously whether Molotov, not being a military man, would be sent as a substitute.

TWO DAYS LATER I was forced to cable the President that four members of my party had contracted malignant malaria on the way to Moscow and could not return, and I did not think it advisable for me to be exposed to malaria, dysentery, and the like while waiting for him in North Africa, because I had had no vaccinations or immunizations. The President agreed to postpone his departure and meet me in the United States. I thereupon cabled that I would fly the South Atlantic rather than take the cruiser.

The Catherine the Great hall of the Kremlin was the scene of a banquet given to the delegations by Marshal Stalin on the night of the last day of the conference, Oct. 30. This was the first social event of the conference I attended.

Immediately on arriving in Moscow, I had told Molotov that in my state of health I could not combine social activity and work. At the beginning he did not seem to believe me and pressed upon me invitations to the theater and to other gala functions. When I persisted in my refusal he seemed impressed, and I was later told that this emphasized to him the intensity of purpose I had in traveling all the way to Moscow in my uncertain state of health so as to help lay the foundations for a better postwar world.

I was seated at Stalin's right. This gave me a wonderful opportunity to talk to him during the long dinner and the entertainment that followed. I utilized it to the utmost in an effort to discuss our relations and future, knowing this would be the last chance I would have before leaving Moscow. I approached him somewhat in circles to draw him out.

STALIN WAS in a most agreeable state of mind. No matter what subject was discussed, he seemed to overlook nothing that might make clearer my understanding of his situation, present and prospective. He opened the conversation by saying, "You have had a successful conference." I at once replied that the credit was entirely his, that he had authorized his great country to take the decisive step of joining with Great Britain and the United States in a world program based on cooperation. This seemed to please him. Throughout the conversation he expressed himself as unqualifiedly for a broad program of international cooperation—military, political, and economic—for peace.

In the strongest way possible I presented to Stalin all the considerations calling for his joining in personal cooperation and leadership with the President and the prime minister. As for meeting them at Basra, however, he definitely stated his conclusion that he could not leave his military emergency situation at present. He said we should give him credit for being sincere in this regard.

He then said he would send Molotov in his stead, since under the Soviet law Molotov was his duly constituted second-ranking man in the government, designated to take his place when he himself might be absent. He asked what I thought of this idea.

I promptly replied that, of course, if he should find it absolutely impossible to go, Molotov would make a good representative. But in the minds of the President and myself, the main point was that, if Stalin himself were to go, it would have a tremendous psychological effect that would extend throughout the world. I said I desired still to plead with him to go himself if at all possible.

I got nowhere with this. His conclusion seemed to be final. I inferred that he had talked this over with his advisers and they felt that the time had not yet come when either the military situation or the necessity for a conference was such as to warrant his leaving. I decided to press the point no further, since to do so might hurt rather than help our purposes.

THEN, HOWEVER, he did make a statement of transcendent importance. He astonished and delighted me by saying clearly and unequivocally that, when the Allies succeeded in defeating Germany, the Soviet Union would then join in defeating Japan.

Stalin had brought up this subject entirely on his own, although he may have had in mind the conversations I had had on this subject with Ambassador Litvinov. He finished by saying that I could inform President Roosevelt of this in the strictest confidence. I thanked him heartily.

The marshal's statment of his decision was forthright. He made is emphatically, it was entirely unsolicited, and he asked nothing in return.

At the Yalta conference in February, 1945, Stalin made this same promise to the President in writing, but then only as a result of the President's agreement to numerous territorial concessions to the Soviet Union in Asia, including the Kurile islands and part of Sakhalin island. I had resigned in November, 1944, hence do not know what changed situation might have rendered these concessions necessary — but when Stalin made his promise to me, for transmission to the President, it had no strings attached to it.

During the dinner innumerable toasts were drunk. Stalin and I drank them in red wine, though many of the guests preferred vodka. Major General John R. Deane, our military attache in Moscow, stole the show when, in answer to Stalin's toast to the American armed forces, he offered a toast to the day when American and British forces would meet Russian forces in Berlin. Stalin rose from his chair beside me and paid Deane alone the high honor of walking around the table to clink glasses with him.

WHEN WE LEFT the dinner table, Stalin led me and two or three others to an adjoining room for a few minutes before going to another room for a motion picture. He proceeded on his own initiative to speak in the most sarcastic terms about reports circulated in the past that the Soviet Union and Germany might agree on a separate peace. I remarked that any person who knew the Russian people and their relation to Germany in this war knew they would not make a separate peace with Germany. To this he heartily subscribed.

Our hosts then exhibited to us a motion picture depicting the bitter fight of Red partisans against the treacherous Japanese in Siberia during the revolutionary period of 1918. The film had been produced in 1938, and, when publicly shown in Moscow, had evoked a strong protest from the Japanese ambassador. There was now no attempt to conceal from us the purpose behind the selection of this film. Coming so shortly after Stalin's statement to me that the Soviet Union would join in the fight against Japan, it had double significance.

A concert followed the movie, and I stayed to the end, which was around 2 o'clock in the morning—this despite the fact that we were due to take off for home at 5 in the morning. Stalin seemed pleased that I remained for the concert, given by the most celebrated Russian musicians.

I HAD AN IMPRESSIVE experience with Stalin as we parted. After the usual expressions of leavetaking, he shook hands with me said "Goodbye" in Russian. Then, after walking three or four steps away from me he suddenly turned and walked back and shook hands a second time to a rather protracted extent, but without saying a word. Then, with serious demeanor, he turned and walked away. I thought to myself that any American having Stalin's personality and approach might well reach high public office in my own country.

After I returned to the embassy I sent the President two messages. The information Stalin had given me on his decision regarding Japan I regarded as so secret that I sent one-half of it to the President over the Navy code and the other half over the Army code. Believing that the British foreign office was more disposed to give out important information than I sometimes thought wise, I left to the President the matter of passing this information on to Churchill alone.

As for the projected Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill meeting, I informed the President that Stalin acted and talked apparently 100 per cent in favor of the new forward movement of international cooperation in every way which the four-nation declaration proclaimed, yet at the same time he was at present unyielding about attending a meeting with the President and the prime minister at any place beyond Tehran. As the deadlock between the President and Stalin continued, I sought by implication to get Mr. Roosevelt's mind turned a little more favorably toward Tehran, since I had become convinced that Stalin would not go to Basra. In due course the President agreed.

AS I BOARDED the plane for home, I felt very strongly that great things had been accomplished at Moscow. We had agreed on the creation of the international organization that became the United Nations. Russia agreed to be a member of that organization and to work closely with the Western Powers in many other respects. We had agreed on a policy toward Italy and toward Austria. We had created the European advisory commission and the advisory council for Italy. We had exchanged numerous ideas on the postwar treatment of Germany, on our attitudes toward France, and on the economic policies to pursue after the war. And, apart from the conference, Stalin had agreed to enter the war against Japan, once Hitler was defeated.

Russia, moreover, never once raised the question that had disturbed us the previous year, namely the settlement at this time of postwar frontiers.

Our flight home, via Tehran, Cairo, Algiers, Marrakesh, Dakar, Fortaleza (Brazil), and Puerto Rico, was without incident. As we neared Brazil we ran into a tropical front and had two hours of very rough flying which embarrassed some of the party but did not seem to affect me. At various stops I exchanged cables with the President and learned with delight his decision to meet with Stalin at Tehran.

WHEN WE ARRIVED at the Washington airport on Nov. 10, there to meet us was the President. With him was a delegation from congress.

Both on the way to the White House and in our conversation the following morning I ran over the highlights of the Moscow conference for the President. He was more interested in discussing the forthcoming conference at Cairo and at Tehran. He was looking forward to his meeting with Stalin with the enthusiasm of a boy and he was particularly anxious to get my personal impressions of the marshal. A few hours later the President was on his way to these historic meetings.

Toledo Labor Plan Explained to Class

A system of labor dispute settlement in operation at Toledo which has been studied by the national government because of its reputation for success, was discussed at the Wednesday Noon Bible class meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Dr. F. Bringle McIntosh, superintendent of the Toledo district of the Methodist church and a member of the Toledo Labor-Management-Citizens committee, was the speaker.

The committee, it was explained, is composed of 18 members, six "topflight" representatives of labor, both CIO and AFL, six prominent management executives, and six members of the general public chosen specifically because of impartiality in regard to the labor-management relationship. These members are appointed by the mayor of the city for the purpose of settling labor disputes which arise.

The committee has been able to settle successfully 90 per cent of the disputes brought to it. "Widespread approval has been won by the committee in the life of the city, and it bids fair to become a model for other cities plagued with industrial disputes," Dr. McIntosh declared.

Europe's monastic movement started in Egypt.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Rep. Clevenger (R-O.) asserts that some government agencies have been spreading propaganda against him in his own district.

He named the agriculture department and the rural electrification administration. These agencies, he charged, to tell the people the good things certain programs...

Another agency, he said, ... sending speaker on the Marshall plan into ... district "to tell my people what I do not know what I am talking about and did not see what I was on a recent trip to Europe."

He ... not name the agency.

His comments were made at hearings of a house appropriations ... subcommittee considering a bill to provide $31,000,000 for the state department's information activities, including the Voice of America radio programs.

The testimony was made public today. Clevenger is a member of the subcommittee.

Clevenger noted that the ... legislature is opposing ... appropriating money for propaganda.

He said he did not ... in the least ... activities of government agencies ... opposed. "I don't get time to oppose ..."

He added ... have always been able satisfactorily to answer it.

Clevenger said the REA spread the story he was opposed to rural electrification. "What he was opposed to," Clevenger said, "was the unnecessary portions ... for which ... amounts of money ... for, such ... for building ... not available.

Similar accusations ... the ... committees, have been directed at practically all Republicans in the house.

7 Pianos, 3 Organs Lost in Music Hall Fire

By The Associated Press

BEREA, O., Feb. 27—A wing of the Kulas musical arts building at Baldwin-Wallace college was damaged by fire today.

Seven pianos, three organs and 16 music practice rooms were lost. College officials said these items were valued at $25,000. Fire Chief George A. Smith estimated the total loss for the wing and its contents would reach $35,000. The chief said the fire probably started from a burned out electrical motor in one of the pipe organs.

The wing was completed last summer at a cost of $25,000.

KAISER REPORTS GOOD YEAR, EXPECTS ANOTHER

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Feb. 27—Kaiser-Frazer Corp. which earned $4.11 a share last year, expects to do at least this well this year.

Edgar F. Kaiser, vice president and general manager, expressed this conviction today in a brief statement, following announcement of a production cutback for economy reasons.

The new program calls for elimination of a second shift of workers at the big Willow Run plant near here and at least temporary abandonment of plans to increase output to 1,500 cars a day.

Three-quarters of the native flowering plants of New Zealand are found nowhere else.

FINLAND TENSE OVER PROPOSED RED PACT

By The Associated Press

HELSINKI, FINLAND, Feb. 27—Tension ... an atmosphere of pessimism ... Finland today with the announcement that Moscow has sent Helsinki a proposal for a new treaty.

The foreign ministry announced Russia has sent a letter direct to President ... Paasikivi. The ministry did not say what kind of pact was offered. A semi-official source said the letter was signed by Premier Stalin.

It is well known that Finnish leaders ... have been studying closely the agreements ... Soviet union has made ... the Balkan countries, a network of pacts linking those countries closely to Russia.

DR. A. RHU

tion and at Notre Dame university.

For a number of years he spent his summers as house physician in hotels in the Catskill and Adirondacks. His extensive library contains books in which are to be found many articles written by him. His work brought him in contact with men of prominence in the profession and with college and universities of high professional standing.

Came Here After Civil War

Dr. Rhu came to Marion shortly after the Civil War and for some time operated a music school here. He taught music in public schools and colleges, and from time to time "read" medicine with practicing physicians, among them his father-in-law, Dr. Robert L. Sweney. He taught general music, and was an instructor in special branches at Lincoln college, Lincoln, Ill., a Covenant Presbyterian church school, and until 1882 was professor of music at Beaver college near Pittsburgh, Pa. He left the latter place to enter Western Reserve university to begin his career in medicine. Among his most prized possessions was a handsome gold watch presented to him by his pupils at Beaver college upon his departure.

Dr. Rhu had two careers, one as a musician and one as a physician and surgeon. His interest in music began when he was eight years old and learned to play the organ. Later he became proficient on the violin. Also he believed that the body as well as the mind should be active in order to progress and despite advancing years maintained a routine of exercise. Some years ago he was written up in newspapers and magazines, when, at an age that most men were thinking of retirement, he learned to swim and was a regular patron of a gymnasium class at the Y.M.C.A.

Played Volleyball

Swimming and volleyball were his athletic pastimes. Until the fall of 1929 when ill health forced him to give up these recreations he was a familiar figure on the volleyball court at the Y.M.C.A. In the winter of 1930 he underwent an operation in Cleveland and about two years later suffered severe injuries in an automobile accident which for a time brought fears for his life. About two years ago Dr. Rhu suffered two broken ribs when he fell at his office while examining a child patient.

When he was a young doctor, aseptic surgery, which is mere routine today, was something fairly new and hospitals in the large cities still used a carbolic acid spray in the operating rooms to purify the surroundings.

Dr. Rhu was born April 5, 1849, in Big Spring township, Seneca county, O. He was married July 7, 1875, to Miss Helen S. Sweney whose death occurred March 29, 1908. He is survived by his son, Dr. Herman Rhu of West Church street, two grandchildren, Dr. Herman Rhu Jr., house surgeon at Syracuse Memorial university hospital, Syracuse, N. Y., and Miss Helen Louise Rhu of San Francisco, Calif., two great-grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Agnes McIntyre of New Washington, O. Dr. Rhu's father was Conrad Sidney Rhu, a native of France, who came to America about 1822 and his mother was Elizebeth Heilmuth Rhu, whose birthplace was Bavaria.

A member of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M. Dr. Rhu received his 50-year pin during that body's centennial year, 1941, and he had been a member of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, Valley of Columbus for 51 years. He also was affiliated with Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks and was an honorary life member and past exalted ruler.

Friends may call at the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue after noon Saturday.

FIRE VICTIM DIES

By The Associated Press

County JP Weds Theatrical Couple

Whether a wedding here yesterday united two notables of the entertainment world was a matter of conjecture today.

Eddie Marquis, 49, theatrical manager, and a native of Paris, France, and Room De Valera, 24, an entertainer from Los Angeles, Calif., presented a blood test certificate from a Columbus laboratorense from the Marion county probate court, giving Hotel Harding as their residence.

An element of mystery appeared when a check of records at the hotel revealed the couple had never been there. They were married yesterday afternoon by Herman Mantz, justice of the peace on the Marion-Delaware pike, and departed toward Columbus, with their secret, if any, still their own.

priations, the bill includes $75,400,000 in contract authority—that is, the right to contract for things which will be paid for later.

Of this authority, $37,000,000 is for the federal-aid airport program, $12,000,000 for establishment of air navigation facilities, and $26,400,000 for Philippine rehabilitation work.

State Department Criticized

It criticized the department for not being "as diligent as it might have been" in selecting personnel, and said committee investigators found that employes of "questionable loyalty remain uninvestigated."

It suggested the state department withdraw from membership in many of the international organizations to which it belongs.

The entire state department structure is "wasteful, costly and inefficient," the committee said.

It added it was not convinced the entire $334,378,000 asked for informational and educational services could be "economically and wisely expended." These services include the "Voice of America" broadcasts designed to counter anti-American propaganda from Russia.

But the $28,000,000 recommended for the program is almost double the amount granted for this year.

YOUNG

utes before the verdict was read. Absolute silence pervaded the court as, the judge, the attorneys and a hundred spectators waited on the court stenographer who had not been informed the jury had reached a verdict and was not in the courtroom.

Of all the persons in the courtroom he appeared least interested in the verdict. While the spectators waited in suspense and the lawyers fidgeted nervously, Young sat at counsel table serene and unmoved, doing absolutely nothing. While spectators and attorneys futilly endeavored to read the verdict in the faces of the jury, Young sat back partially turned to the jury box without a single glance at the panel that judged his guilt.

He still sat waiting after the verdict was read and the suspense broken, to be taken back to the county jail, the calmest person in the courtroom. Attorneys chatted with members of the jury as excited spectators filed out. If Young noticed, he paid no attention.

Judge Smith has not set a date for sentencing.

Scrub Brushes End "Beat Cap" Incident

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 27 — A dozen Otterbein college students cleaned up at Capital university yesterday.

They got down and scrubbed away the "Beat Cap" signs that were whitewashed on Capital sidewalks and buildings Feb. 19, just before the two schools had a basketball game.

This, plus previous apologies, closed the matter. The cleaners, however, wore jackets with "Beat Cap" and similar slogans painted on the backs.

PRESENTS CONGRESS NEW HOUSING BILL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 — A housing program that would cost the government about $1,000,000,000 the first five years was laid before a congressional committee today.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) presented the draft of a proposed bill to the senate-house housing committee. He is ... chairman.

The measure is intended to encourage the construction of 1,000,000 new homes a year for the next decade. A big share would be homes for rent to low income families.

To attract investors to construction of this type of dwelling, the bill guarantees a profit of from about 3½ to 5 per cent a year.

If the investor built homes or apartments to rent for less than $50 in cities of 500,000 or larger population, and less than $40 in smaller cities, there would be these additional inducements:

1. The income from such projects would be exempt from income tax.

2. A total of 50 per cent depreciation for tax purposes against other income would be permitted.

3. Local communities would be called upon to give aid in the form of land, labor, material, tax concessions and cash.

"If that program has not produced several hundred thousand low rental houses a year from now, I'll buy you each a steak," McCarthy told reporters.

RED CROSS

of 300 hand towels for Poland and soft toys for children overseas and blind children in this country. Industrial arts classes are making ash trays and games for the use of hospitalized war veterans, and simple wooden toys for blind children.

Money contributed at enrollment is used for materials for the articles made and also for other Junior Red Cross services. Some is used to buy supplies for gift boxes and some for art materials to make holiday favors. The remainder of the enrollment money is contributed to the National Children's Fund, which is used to aid children of war devastated countries. Clothes, medical supplies, educational material, soap, garden tools and seeds are a few of the articles supplied by this fund. Last year the Marion Junior chapter contributed $175.40 to the National Children's fund.

In Community Service

For community service, the Junior Red Cross last year made 750 favors for veterans' hospitals and 1,269 favors for the various holidays in local institutions, including the Children's Home, Marion County Home, Waddell Home, Riffee Rest Home and Marion City Hospital.

Last year a Home Nursing class was conducted at Edison High school and 25 girls received certificates. This year, a class of 22 completed the course and received their certificates last week.

School administrators and teachers see in the Junior Red Cross program a body of enriching experiences for boys and girls —experiences that help develop social aptitudes and give the children the opportunity to use skills acquired in the class room to serve others. Policies of the senior organization such as accident prevention, safety, fire prevention and food conservation are also stressed by the juniors.

The Junior Red Cross is a growing organization and one of great importance. Junior members today will be adults tomorrow, and upon them rests the responsibility of putting this world in order and the furthering of international understanding.

The government radio said yesterday organization work of Benes' old party, the anti-Communist Czech National Socialists, would be stopped until better leaders are found.

Later, workers at the party's Prague headquarters said police had arrested Dr. Vladimir Krajina, its former secretary general, when he came to the headquarters for documents.

Last night the government radio said 30 "reactionary professors" had been fired at 600-year-old Charles university and a committee was to interview Dr. Karel Inglis, chancellor. University students demonstrated in sympathy with Benes Wednesday.

The radio reports also that the Rev. Msgr. Jan Sramek had sought parliament's permission for his retirement from his seat as a Catholic People's Party deputy. He was wartime premier in London.

Purposes for which money is being saved by Vernon pupils through the school banking setup, according to the school council report, include college education, summer camp, bicycles, government bonds, riding horses, guns, cameras, and even a "trip to Japan."

On "banking days" at each school, students bring their money for deposit, and it is put in a local banking concern for them. This encourages saving of money by pupils because of the convenience of bringing their money to the school, it was explained.

Notable Achievement

In regard to Vernon school's pupil savings, Cecil W. Gabler principal, stated that "in consideration of the fact that Vernon Heights Junior High is a comparatively small school (319) we are inclined to believe that its record may represent an achievement which few schools will surpass." The report was compiled by the student council as a means of stimulating interest in the procedure of regular savings, and the findings were so "amazing" that the group decided it should be made known, especially to parents of the pupils.

"Thrift is certainly one of the desirable qualities that needs to be stressed in the age in which we live," Mr. Gabler commented. Much of the money is earned by the pupils through such methods as "baby sitting" or "peddling papers." Total weekly banking by Vernon school reaches as high as $200. Throughout the year, the school has maintained a pupil percentage average of 94, and in some rooms as much as 100 per cent of the pupils are saving. Some pupils now have bank accounts of $1,000 or more, and most save up to a certain figure before withdrawing their money and placing it in regular savings account, it was pointed out.

Woman Marks 101st Birthday at Upper

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY — Mrs. Hannah Tressler celebrated her 101st birthday Thursday at the Reformed Church Home for the Aged in Upper Sandusky. A native of Stark county and a former resident of Canton, Mrs. Tressler came to the home Jan. 15, 1938.

Reasonably active until a year ago, she is now bedfast but still alert. She enjoys visits of friends and relatives and is an ardent radio fan. Last year an orchid was sent to her from the Breakfast in Hollywood program and Mrs. Tressler was pleased to hear her anniversary mentioned on the program of Tom Brenneman.

A large birthday cake, ordered by a granddaughter, Mrs. Owen Scott of Youngstown, was delivered by a local bakery and served to residents of the home and guests present for the celebration.

RT. REV. HENRY KNOX SHERRILL

Episcopal Bishop To Appeal For Funds for Reconstruction

On Sunday substantially every member of the Episcopal church will hear the voice of their presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, by means of a new and extraordinary use of radio. In Marion the congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal church will sit in their pews and at exactly 11:32½ a. m., the presiding bishop's voice will be heard, telling of the needs of war devastated countries in Europe and Asia, and urging Episcopal church members everywhere to accept their plain duty and privilege of helping these suffering millions. The same scene and the same message will be repeated in thousands of Episcopal churches all over the country, at exactly the same time.

The talk by Bishop Sherrill will be heard by the radio audience also at 11:30 over station WLW, the National Broadcasting Company.

Church Raises Fund

The Episcopal church gave more than a million dollars in 1947 through its Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, and it intends to raise the same amount or more in 1948. The entirely new use of radio opens what is expected to be a very brief and highly successful campaign.

At the service, when Bishop Sherrill's 10-minute address ends, the rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Rev. Frederick W. Leech, will tell his people how they may have a part in this program of aid for the distressed, through the Presiding Bishop's Fund. Then the opportunity will be given for both immediate gifts and short-time pledges. At national church headquarters in New York City it was stated recently that "our 1,600,000 people can raise $1,000,000 for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief in one day if each parish and mission will do its share."

The radio address will be given by Bishop Sherrill in New York at the time it is heard, with the exception of some remote places where the radio hookup is impossible. In such instances, electrical transcriptions and phonograph records will be used.

Expect Large Congregation

As Episcopal church people are being told of the forthcoming event, and parish organizations are busily engaged in getting promises of attendance, it is expected that congregations will be extremely large, so that most members of the church will hear the message. Certainly well over a million people, seated in Episcopal churches will hear Bishop Sherrill tell of what he has seen personally in Europe, and what is the church's task at this critical period in the world's history.

This is the first time radio has been used by any church in such a way to convey a message to its whole constituency at one time.

Wesley Class Gives To Youth Camp Project

Business at a meeting of the Unity Bible class of Wesley Methodist church Tuesday night included a report on $10 contributed to the Lima district Methodist Youth camp project, and on a program were special music and readings on George Washington. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. George Keefer on Windsor street. Scripture was read by Mrs. E. O. Call, and a poem by Mrs. Lois Thornberry. A letter was read from a student at Mather academy at Camden, S. C., to whose scholarship fund the class contributes. Francis Beckley presented a group of numbers on the electric guitar, and he and Clyde Coile Jr. sang. A group of humorous readings was presented by Mrs. Wilson Massie, and a reading and a poem on Washington were by Mrs. Mary Kates, and Mrs. Ruth Mosher, respectively. Contest honors went to Mrs. Harry Green. Guests were Mrs. F. J. Beckley, Mrs. Mary Wiedemaier, and Mrs. Harold Kates. Mrs. Lloyd Mosher and Mrs. Ray Lehman, Mrs. Malcolm Kates, Mrs. R. D. Moore, Mrs. Eugene Phillips and Mrs. Nellie Phelps assisted in serving. It was announced that the class on Wednesday night will attend the special New Life services which will open at the church Sunday.

In the Service

HOCKEY PROBE MARKS TIME

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Feb. 27—The National Hockey league's probe of reported gambling within its ranks waited today while Michigan authorities attempted to tie together the numerous angles of an underworld inquiry it started. Gov. Kim Sigler asked NHL President Clarence Campbell to attend a meeting in Lansing next Tuesday, when reports that two players placed bets on league games will be aired further. Present also at the session will be Detroit Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy, whose investigation into the activities of James (Occo) Tamer, paroled convict, touched off the hockey flurry.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Disease With Severe Symptoms

Diseases that start suddenly and violently, with well-marked symptoms, are likely to acquire picturesque names.

One of these is known as "devil's grip." Though not frequent in the United States, outbreaks of it have occurred here as well as in many other spots around the globe from northern Europe to Australia and Egypt.

Devil's grip, which is also known as epidemic muscular rheumatism, has an abrupt beginning with severe pain in the chest, headache, and some fever. A few patients may remember having had colds in advance of other symptoms and occasionally, one may also complain of pain in the lower part of the back before the onset of fever.

Chest pain, which may come either while the patient is at rest or immediately after exercise, may be one of two kinds—sharp and knifelike, or constrictive as if the chest were really held in the devil's iron and evil grasp. Made worse by deep breathing, coughing or yawning, it is usually located along the lower margin of the ribs and is sometimes also felt in the pit of the stomach, between the shoulder blades, or in the lower part of the abdomen or groin.

As a general rule the condition lasts for from two to seven days, but may continue for as long as three weeks. Once the condition has cleared up there is little likelihood of recurrence.

In about half the cases, there is headache, sometimes of great severity. The head pain is usually in the forehead. Fever may rise to 105 degrees, although this is unusual. About a third of the patients suffer from sore throat. Loss of appetite and sickness at the stomach are other symptoms which may occur.

Inflammation of the male sex gland is one of the common complications of this condition. It, also, clears up, for the most part, in from within two to six days.

Unfortunately, the exact cause of this condition has not been found. On the other hand, it is not a serious disorder, but it is important that it be recognized and differentiated from other conditions producing the same symptoms.

The treatment consists of drugs to relieve the pain, which the physician will prescribe, as well as other drugs to reduce the fever and induce sleep.

Among the conditions with which this disorder may be confused are pleurisy or inflammation of the lining membrane of the chest cavity, and hepatitis or liver inflammation.

Of course, when symptoms of this condition occur, prompt examination by the physician is advisable.

Questions and Answers

G. P.: Is it true that people with myocarditis have only a short time to live?

Answer: Myocarditis means inflammation of the heart muscle. A person with this condition could live for many years depending, however, upon the extent of the disorder and its cause, and the way in which he lives.

In virgin forests the wood lost in dying trees about equals the yearly volume of growth.

...political meddling with ...nal affairs of other coun... ...ll bring down upon the ...people in this land ill will from every nation on the globe, with what ultimate effect heaven alone knows," the congressman said.

He took sharp issue with the promoters of the Marshall plan concerning the "alleged prosperity" supposed to result from the plan. He said "top officials point with gleeful pride to the expected high income of farmers, to the increased rate of pay of wage-earners, to the great savings, and to the soaring business in general. They tell us that exports, huge amounts in excess over imports, are an important factor in producing prosperity and that if such exports are not kept up, the economy will collapse and we will all lose our shirts.

"No doubt many who make this allegation believe it to be true. The motley crew of 'economists' in the service of the political authority—not government, for that is something else—whose brains are cluttered up with 'multiplier' and 'compensatory spending' concepts and other Keynesian hallucinations seem to believe it too."

"Where do the funds come from to pay for the wheat and other products purchased from the farmers and others to be given away under the Marshall plan?" Smith asked the committee. "From one source and only one, taxes," taxes paid by every producing segment of the economy * * * farmers and all other producing groups are taxed to pay for the non-farm products purchased for foreign shipment. So on through the whole gamut the individuals compressing every group are compelled to contribute toward the purchase of the articles produced by the individuals of every other group for export under the foreign aid program.

"In this reciprocal or merry-go-round fashion the political authority taxes the farm worker and the white-collar worker and the factory worker and all the other workers to pay for the goods it buys from the farm worker and the white-collar worker and the factory worker and all the other workers.

"The whole business simply ends up to a minus quantity for all the workers."

Smith seriously questioned the ability of American industry to meet the production demanded under the Marshall plan. He said: "It is an illusion to believe, as most people seem to, that the shortages of commodities which generally prevail of steel, oil, building supplies, transportation facilities, etc, are merely acute shortages and that they will soon pass away. The fact is that the shortages we are now experiencing are chronic shortages and are here to stay and will become progressively aggravated until the domestic economy is restored to a condition of soundness. Since it does not appear that anything like this will be done in the near future, the impact of the Marshall plan upon the economy would be to further aggravate the shortage situation."

Predicting the $17 billion asked for under the Marshall plan might reach $100 billion "assuming the nation can stand that much before it goes completely bankrupt," Mr. Smith reminded the committee of his 1944 testimony on UNRRA when he predicted "... personally, I should not be surprised if the cost of the program would go to five billion, or ten billion, or 20 billion dollars."

"Well, the figure has already exceeded 20 billion and now 17 billion more is being asked," said the congressman.

He declared: "That the social body in Europe is gravely ill cannot be questioned. It is afflicted with a deep seated and pernicious constitutional malady caused by the virus of socialism and no amount of blood transfusions, such as would be provided by the Marshall plan can possibly have the least effect in killing that contagion. It will only serve as an additional culture medium for its further growth. Nothing in the world will eradicate that virus but the natural, spontaneous curative process within the social body itself. All of Europe and the rest of the world will rise again only as politics are by-passed by the producing populations and as they succeed in freely dealing with one another; that is, as the ascending national and international communism reverses its trend and God's laws are respected."

Sports Shorts

By BILL DIEM
Star Sports Editor

TONIGHT'S your last chance to see Marion's high school basketball teams in action against scheduled foes and if you haven't seen them yet, you better plan to gas up the jalopy and take off for either Bellevue, where the Pirates will meet the champions of the Northern Ohio league, or Delaware, where St. Mary and Pleasant engage the Marysville Monarchs in a battle for the Mid-State league basketball title . . . The Pirates hope to make their last stand a winning one and make their season record stand at seven wins and nine losses, which would be a big hop up from their standings in recent years . . . The Irish want to make it win No. 17 and a share in the Mid-State league crown. Marysville, with seven league wins and no losses, has already copped at least half the crown, but St. Mary will have to win tonight to grab a share in it. They've lost one league contest, a one-pointed to the Monarchs, which should make tonight's struggle all the keener . . . The Irish-Monarch festivities get underway at 7 p. m. on the Delaware High school boards when the two reserve teams will fight it out . . . The Irish Reserves will put a six-game win streak on the line and will be seeking their nineteenth victory of the season.

NOW THAT PLEASANT and LaRue are slated to meet in the Marion county consolation finals at New Bloomington tomorrow night with a trip to the district tournament in Westerville at stake, the quesion becomes "will LaRue have a Pleasant time of it?" . . . And will Caledonia learn a Morral in the tournament finals? . . . Be there at 7 p. m. tomorrow night and see.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27—The folks hereabouts who tell you that Citation will be the winner of racing's "Triple Crown" as well as tomorrow's Flamingo also will tell you that Warren Wright's Calumet colors may finish 1-2-3 in the Kentucky Derby. . . . Calumet has entered seven horses in the Derby and they figure that Coaltown and Free America or Whirlblast could chase Citation home at Churchill Downs. . . . Beau Dandy and two fillies, Bewitch and Whirlsome, and the others listed. . . . Coaltown, which wasn't raced as a two-year-old because trainer Jimmy Jones said he was "windbroken," really was something to see yesterday. . . . He won by 12 lengths under 122 pounds and equalled the track record for seven furlongs with jockey Al Snider hanging on hard all the way down the stretch to keep him from taking off.

THE MIAMI "International" four-ball golf matches really will be international this year. . . . Bobby Locke of South Africa and Norman Von Nida of Australia will be in the field and three South Americans, Roberto Di Vincenzo, Martin Pose and Henry Bertolino are available for the spots. . . . Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret will be shooting for their third straight four-ball title. It might have been four except for a mixup one year when Hogan was teamed with Gene Sarazan. . . . Ben and Gene won the four-ball and Jimmy was behind the eight-ball.

Pleasant, LaRue Win Consolation Semi-finals

To Meet in Tournament Finals Saturday Before Caledonia - Morral Title Clash

Pleasant and LaRue won the right to play in the consolation finals with hard earned victories last night at Morral in the consolation semi-finals. They, along with Caledonia and Morral, will play in the county league's finals tomorrow night on the New Bloomington hardwood.

Pleasant, after being upset in the opening round by a surging Meeker five, came through last night and won over a scrappy Prospect team 37 to 31. LaRue came back from a defeat at the hands of Caledonia last Saturday night by taxing Meeker, 49 to 41.

The consolation finals between Pleasant and LaRue will start at 7:30 and will precede the championship match between Morral and Caledonia. Both of the finalists in the title tussle will enter the central district tourney at Westerville. Only the winner of the consolation match will be eligible for the Otterbein college meet which will start next week.

Pleasant got off to a quick start on Prospect and led 13 to 8 at the end of the first stanza and increased the lead to 22 to 15 at the intermission. Throughout the final quarter, while Prospect was pressing the Pleasant ball handlers far down the floor, the down county boys gained and reduced the lead of 11 points at the third quarter down to a bare six point advantage at the end of the hectic session. Ron Gorby of Pleasant and Ralph Long of the losers led the point makers with 11 each.

After a nip and tuck first quarter in which Meeker led LaRue 11 to 10 the west siders pulled away and were never headed, holding a 24 to 20 lead at the half way mark. The two quintets on even terms during the third session with 13 points but LaRue had the edge in the final frame, scoring 12 points to Meeker's eight. Harold Brocklesby, with 14 points, headed the scoring while Ralph Wilson, LaRue long shot artist, Richard Parsell and Jim Brown of Meeker at 12 each. Wilson hit six baskets for high in the field goal department, five of them coming on set shots over the Meeker zone defense. Burke Ballinger, LaRue playmaker deluxe, also went into double digits with 11 points.

Pennock, Traynor New Baseballers In Hall of Fame

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 — The late Hero Pennock and Harold (Pie) Traynor were voted into baseball's hall of fame today by the Baseball Writers association. Their names will be enrolled in the Cooperstown (N.Y.) shrine alongside 46 others who were so honored in previous years.

Pennock, the great lefthanded pitcher who died Jan. 30 enroute to a National league meeting in New York, led the candidates with 94 votes. Traynor, Pittsburgh third baseman for 17 years, polled 93 votes. According to the rules, 75 per cent of the votes cast or 91 votes were required for election. More than 300 writers were eligible to vote. A total of 121 votes were cast.

Al Simmons, Philadelphia Athletics coach who hit .334 in a major league career dating from 1924 to 1944, followed Pennock and Traynor with 60 votes—31 short of election.

Charley Gehringer, famous Detroit second baseman, and Bill Terry, former New York Giants' first baseman and manager, tied for fourth with 52 votes. Paul Waner, one of the better hitters in the history of the game, polled 51. Slugger Jimmy Foxx had 50.

Pennock, one of the best lefthanded pitchers of all time, over a 22-year span won 245 big league games, including five without defeat in World Series competition.

Traynor, now a scout with the Pirates, broke into the majors with Pittsburgh in 1920 after starting at Portsmouth, Va. His lifetime major league batting average was .320.

TRIBE LEAVES FOR SPRING TRAINING

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27 — The Cleveland Indians' "Darkhorse Special" steams out of the Sixth City today on the first leg of the 1948 pennant chase.

Already tagged by Manager Lou Boudreau as a team with "championship possibilities," the Tribe hopefuls counted a full slate of 37 signed players as they entrained for the Tucson, Ariz., spring drills. Rookie infielder Len Ratto was the 37th player to sign last night.

Leaving Cleveland were pitchers Al Gettel, Ed Klieman, Steve Gromek, and Ernie Groth; first baseman Eddie Robinson, catcher Hank Ruszkowski, outfielder Hank Edwards, traveling secretary Spud Goldstein and coaches Muddy Ruel, Mel Harder and George Susce.

Manager Boudreau will join the troupe at Chicago, along with catcher Jim Hegan, outfielders Allie Clark and Larry Doby, coach Oscar Melillo and pitchers Bob Kuzava, Lyman Linde and Stan Rozek. Other Indians will converge on Tucson from other parts of the country.

JERSEY JOE AGREES TO RETURN BOUT TERMS

By The Associated Press

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 27—The return heavyweight title bout between champion Joe Louis and challenger Jersey Joe Walcott is scheduled to become official at 2 p. m. today.

Jersey Joe, beaten in a split decision fight last December, announced last night he had agreed to meet the Brown Bomber at the Yankee Stadium June 23 and would place his name on the contract in the offices of the Twentieth Century Sport Club in New York.

Louis, in England for a series of exhibition bouts, previously had affirmed a return engagement against the 34-year-old Camden, N. J., man who twice floored him in their previous engagement.

Under the terms announced by A. D. Melandra, Walcott's attorney, Jersey Joe will receive 20 per cent of the net receipts and 22½ per cent of the movie rights. Walcott's advisory board, headed by Felix Bocchicchio, who has first call on his services, and manager Joe Webster, had been holding out for 30 per cent. Louis will receive 40 per cent of the gate and 30 per cent of the movie income.

Walcott also consented to give Louis a return bout in the event he wins the title. If a third fight is necessary, they will split the purse on a 30-30 basis.

Farmer Jones Defeats Red Lyons in Wrestling

Farmer Jones of Montgomery county, Ark., returned to the Armory last night for his first appearance here this year and defeated Red Lyons in three falls, winning on a reverse decision in the final heat.

Farmer didn't have his pig with him, but it made no difference. He lost the first fall in 25 minutes, before a full house, to Lyons who pinned him with a leg strangle, but came back to take the second and third in 10 and 15 minutes with a flyin' jenny and body press, respectively.

In the one-hour semi-final, Stacky Neilson took the first fall from handsome Bill Murray in 15 minutes with a leg stomp and toe hold. Murray, however, was declared the winner after 13 minutes of the second fall when Neilson resorted to unfair methods by trying to strangle Murray with the string from his wrestling trunks.

Oscar O'Hara and Paul Kincaid wrestled to a draw in the 10-minute preliminary.

Capital, Otterbein Close Out Basketball Season with Wins

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 27—Ohio college cagers headed today for the last great weekend roundup of the 1948 season.

They faced five games tonight and 19 more tomorrow night. Only scattered contests through March 8 remained.

At least two college teams completed their schedules last night. Capital university's Lutherans wrapped up third place in the Ohio conference with a 67-39 win over Wilmington college. Otterbein closed its season with a 70-58 verdict over Kenyon.

Other scores:

Rio Grande 67, Ohio university (Chillicothe branch) 59. Cedarville 75, Steubenville 62; Mount Union 64, Muskingum 54; Kent State 68, Heidelberg 60.

Capital racked up a record of 14 wins and three losses this year. But that wasn't good enough to retain their Ohio conference title won last year.

OWU Heads Conference

Ohio Wesleyan and Wooster, in that order, rest above the Lutherans.

The Capital lads made their final game a scoring riot. Brownie Cellar, a veteran from last year, raced through with 22 points. The basket barrage smothered hapless Wilmington. Walt Hobble led the losers with 16 points.

Otterbein, too, celebrated the final game of the year with a flood of fielders.

Vic Thomas netted 22 points, but Dave Bell of Kenyon hit 23. The Otters held a 32-28 halftime margin.

The college of Steubenville took it in the neck again, the 18th time this season. Steubenville has won only three contests. Bill Troute hit 22 points for Cedarville and Al Diserio led Steubenville with 17.

Mounties Surprise Muskies

One Ohio Conference contest produced an upset, with Mount Union doing the upsetting. The Purple Raiders trimmed Muskingum, which twice before this year had banged out wins. Mount Union has won 14 out of 22.

Larry Kukura of Muskingum, a steady scorer all year, led the losers with 22 points. Bevier Bell meshed 18 for the Raiders.

Prospect Cage Tourney Gets Under Way Today

Two of Delaware's tougher independent basketball teams will be in action tonight in the first evening of play in the Prospect invitational basketball tournament. The Delaware Screw Products will meet Delaware Roxy Grill in the first game of a two-game card, and the Carey Bursons will go up against Marion's Schlairet Transfer five.

On Saturday night, the Marseilles Ex-Hi's will meet the Richwood Rangers, and the Prospect All Stars will engage the Marion Knickerbockers.

The Ex-Hi's and the Rangers are about equally matched, but just how the Knicks will stack up with the All Star powerhouse can't be determined in advance since it is a new aggregation, loaded with stars of other Marion quintets. Its roster includes Carl Harbolt, Kenny Jones, Bob Smith, Bob England, Glen Rodenberger, Bob Short, Steve Norris, "Mouse" Miles, and Bob Ruff.

The Prospect tourney, played on the Prospect High school hardwoods, will run for three weekends. All profits will go to the Prospect High school activities fund.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

By The Associated Press

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. — Sonny Jim Hampton, 138, Buffalo, N. Y., outpointed Harry Hunjian, 139, Worcester, Mass., 8. Al Bernard, 147, Wilkes Barre, knocked out Patsy Gall, 150, Freeland, Pa., 1.

FALL RIVER, Mass. — Bobby Wright, Cleveland, 146½, and Johnny Suarez, 144, San Francisco, drew, 10.

Hot-Shot Bowler To Lead Team In Exhibition Here

A youthful hot-shot kegler from Akron who once rolled an 847 three-game series in league competition will be the strong man of an Akron team that will invade the Marion Recreation Saturday night for an exhibition match with the best five bowlers in the Marion All Star league.

That 847 series, third highest ever made among bowlers in ABC-sanctioned bowling leagues, was made two years ago by 17-year-old Dick Hoover, then working in Akron's Home league.

Now Dick is with the GI Machine team of Akron and has built up a 202 average in the Akron All Star league.

His high series, made off 300, 279, 268 games, earned him two ABC medals that year—one for the perfect game, one for the highest series rolled during the year.

The Marion team will be composed of Roy and Maynard Snyder, Lloyd Johnson, John Kayatin, and another kegler yet undecided.

The exhibition game will be rolled at 8:30 Saturday night.

Citation-Relic Meeting Tomorrow In Hialeah Seen Producing Derby Winn

CITATION

RELIC

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK—While horsemen from here to Florida continue to talk about Assault and Armed, the race of the winter season at Hialeah Park appears to be between Citation and Relic.

These 3-year-old speedsters will come together for the first time tomorrow, in the $50,000 Flamingo Stakes, Hialeah's closing day feature.

Citation Favored

The winner probably will be Citation. At least the son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane II might go postward as the odds-on-favorite because he's been the Winter Book choice to take next May's Kentucky Derby ever since he put away his running shoes last fall.

Relic, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Moore's Circle M Ranch, has done about everything asked of him. However, the colt never has raced more than seven furlongs.

Relic, son of War Relic-Bridal Colors, made only five starts in 1947, winning three and finishing second twice. He won the Hopeful at Saratoga where he did all his 2-year-old campaigning.

Relic won both his 1948 starts at Hialeah to run his earnings to $69,275. In the Bahamas Handicap he scored by three lengths and Jimmy Jones, trainer of Calumet Farm's Citation, indicated Relic might be the horse to put his charge to the test.

Beaten Only Once

Citation has been beaten only once in 11 starts. His only setback came against a stablemate, the filly Bewitch, in the Washington Park Futurity last July.

Voted the best 2-year-old colt of 1947, Citation's total earnings are $167,455. In the recent seven-furlong Seminole, Citation beat his famed stablemate, Armed, and was clocked in the blazing time of 1:23, one-fifth of a second faster than Relic's time for the Bahamas.

Citation figures to take measure of Relic for the first time as he has proved that he can go the distance. He did this in the King Ranch's Better Self mile and a sixteenth $48,000 Hialeo Futurity last November. Relic has yet to go a route but nevertheless has many backers for longer races coming up.

Leads College Cagers With 27-Point Average

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 — Nate Delong of River Falls (Wis.) State continues to top the small college basketball scorers. His eye-opening average for 19 games is 27 points.

These figures, compiled by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, including games through Feb. 21. They do not include Delong's recent 72-point effort in one night.

Eppa Rixey of Kenyon is second to the leader with a 25.4 average. John Wilson of Anderson with 23.3 and Newt Oliver of Rio Grande with a 22.6 mark round out the top five. Oliver actually has scored the most points, 633, but his team has played 28 games to 18 for Delong.

Jolson's Audience Hears More Than It Should

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Feb. 27—"If you don't laugh, get the hell out of here," were the first words Al Jolson's radio audience heard last night.

Jolson's quip, not intended for broadcast, was directed at the studio audience at the end of a preliminary warmup, but the program already was on the air.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MR. "K," with characteristic efficiency, went into action at the domestic emergency, as he would have done at something connected with his FBI work.

"Gus!" he raised his voice. "Will you and Joe get out the car, please? Mrs. Graham and her friend have things to discuss."

The men trooped out of the car, and Mr. "K." turned to Mrs. Ticer courteously.

"Are your husband and your son anywhere around?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," she answered, "they're right outside the car."

"They know as well as Jim does, where these men can wash up?" he asked next.

"Oh, yes, sir," she answered.

"Then I'll have them see to the guards. They can turn on lights where they need them," he said with decision. "Do you happen to know whether Mr. Spencer's wing is in readiness for this gentleman and myself?"

He indicated Georges with a slight inclination of the head, and I saw Mrs. Ticer start and look at him closely.

Georges smiled at her warmly. He can be most gracious and easy when he wishes.

"I'm glad you remember me, Mrs. Ticer," he said.

"My stars above!" she ejaculated. "Miss Mary's beau from The Larches. Or, were you Princess Olina's young man?"

"Both," Georges said, grinning widely I knew at the discomfiture her innocent words were giving me. "But Mrs. Graham will tell you all about it presently."

"Just now," Mr. "K." broke in a bit peremptorily, "I'd like to know about the suite."

"Oh, I'm sorry, I'm sure," Mrs. Ticer said, "but I was flustered at seeing the young gentleman, I forgot. The suite is all ready. But its locked, and I don't know where Katie put the key."

"It doesn't matter," Mr. "K." said, "I have Mr. Spencer's key. Now, Georges, if youll pick up your gear, we'll be moving along to our quarters. Mrs. Graham, I'll have Gus stand right outside the door of the car until you and Mrs. Ticer get ready to come inside the house. Will that be all right?"

"That will be perfect," I told him, smiling, and in another minute Mrs. Ticer and I were left alone in the car.

"Sit down," I said, indicating the couch where I had slept, "and tell me what happened."

"It's all that Charlie Kent's fault," my neighbor said in an aggrieved voice. "He got your message, but instead of coming to Katie himself with it, he came to me—he fancies he's the big gun of the FBI himself sometimes—and told me to give it to Katie.

"Well!" Mrs. Ticer went on, "That did it. Katie took on something awful. She said she was going to walk out and never come back, if you couldn't have Charlie Kent come and deliver a message to her direct, instead of sending it through to me. I knew, of course, that she was bluffing about going, and I tried to tell her that I knew it was some of Charlie's own foolishness, but I couldn't get anywhere with her. She told me I'd have to stay around, for she wouldn't serve dinner if the angel Gabriel came down.

"But you know as well as I do," she finished, "that if I did serve that dinner, she'd scratch my face into ribbons. It's a mean job, but there's nobody else in the world can do anything with Katie, so I guess you're elected."

WALLACE BACKERS TO ATTEND MEETING

Marion Delegation Will Go to Columbus March 7.

Plans were made for a delegation from the local Wallace for President club to attend a meeting March 7 in Columbus at a meeting of the Marion club Thursday night in the Central Labor Union hall.

It was decided to circulate petitions for the raising of the old age pensions in Ohio to $75 a month, and the club commended the Marion city council for defeating the ordinance on closing hour change for cafes. The club voted to have a member representative at the next council meeting when a discussion will be held on the change of veterans housing unit transportation by taking city buses off that route.

Talks were given on various subjects by the members as follows: The Bronx elections and southern Democratic affairs by Charles Pfeiffer; the United States position in Palestine by Maurice Alperin, local affairs including unemployment in Marion by Mrs. Bertha Tate; juvenile delinquency by Mr. Alperin at which time the club concluded that not enough money is appropriated for parks and playgrounds.

Glen Jeffries discussed Wallace's vice presidential candidate, Glen Taylor, editorials concerning him, the state legislature, old age pension and payroll tax, and a discussion was held by the group on Congressman Smith and his stand on the Taft-Hartley bill and the Marshall plan. The next meeting will be March 11 at the Central Labor Union hall.

HITCHHIKE CONVICT GRANTED PAROLE

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 27—The pardon and parole commission gave Levi A. Clark a parole yesterday, 23 years after a hitchhike shooting which aroused public indignation.

Clark was serving up to 65 years for shooting to kill, armed robbery and auto theft. His parole is effective May 13.

The leader of the London Prison Farm band was eligible for parole six years ago, but protests from Findlay and Defiance forced continuance.

Clark was convicted of shooting and wounding Lynn A. Lyon of Findlay, a salesman, after thumbing a ride east of Defiance.

Fifty-three other paroles were granted yesterday. They included, effective March 29, George Morgan of Delaware county, sentenced for non support.

Carefully selected. Bred to quality boars. Fed right for large litters.

This offering includes the tops in Yorkshires for quality and breeding.

Yorkshires placed first in an experiment including all breeds of hogs, conducted in January, 1918, by men from Ohio, Michigan, and Washington, D. C., at the Detroit Packing Plant, to determine the breed with the greatest percentage of edible meat. 20 head of Yorkshires from the Rona Vesta Farm were included. A copy of the official report of this experiment and a dressed Yorkshire carcass will be on display Sale Day.

The Yorkshire also placed first at the National Barrow Show in the Dressed Carcass Class.

Yorkshires are noted for their large litters and fine temperament.

Attend the sale and see why Yorkshires are the most profitable hogs.

One Man's Opinion

Soviet agents are reported working in Hawaii . . . But it should be easy to spot a red sarong.

* * *

I wouldn't worry while they're still working . . . Not until they start to leave for home.

* * *

They're just checking up to see if the pineapples are really pineapples.

* * *

Anyway if we haven't got espionage agents snooping in Siberia we're just not covering our routes as well as the Russians.

* * *

The difference between espionage agents is that the one working for you is an intelligence officer and the other guy employs only spies.

About the difference between "rebel forces" and "underground fighters" . . . Depending on how we're rooting.

But if the Russians are working in Hawaii it should be easy to find them . . . Nobody else works very hard.
